

Contents

List of figures	viii
List of tables	x
Notes on contributors	xi
Acknowledgements	xix
1 Introduction: oceans in global history and culture 1400–1800: expanding horizons Claire Jowitt, Craig Lambert, and Steve Mentz	1
Part I
Historiography and the premodern sea	31
2 Why the medieval sea mattered Susan Rose	33
3 Rediscovering the age of discovery Lincoln Paine	50
4 The cartography of the sea: mapping England's 'mastery of the oceans' Alistair S. Mæer	67
5 Domestic maritime trade in late Tudor England c.1565–85: a case study of King's Lynn and Plymouth Gary Paul Baker	95
6 Global networks in maritime worlds 1400–1800 Rila Mukherjee	125
7 Regionalism, localism, and individualism in the Ottoman Mediterranean: seventeenth-century Ottoman seafarers' tales Rhoads Murphey	151

Part II
Material seas	175
8 Port towns and the 'paramaritime' Isaac Land	177
9 Fishermen and their families in late medieval and Tudor Kent Sheila Sweetinburgh	202
10 Ships and shipping technology Richard W. Unger	221
11 Navies and naval operations John B. Hattendorf	242
12 Nautical manuals and ships' instruments, 1550–1800: lessons in two and three dimensions Margaret E. Schotte	273
13 Spectacles of the sea: warship decoration and ideology in early modern Europe Benjamin W. D. Redding	298
Part III
Social and political seas	321
14 Tudor shipmasters and maritime communities, 1550–1600 Craig Lambert	323
15 Women and the Sea, 1600–1800 Margarette Lincoln	349
16 Early modern English piracy and privateering Elaine Murphy	368
17 Law and the sea Richard J. Blakemore	388
18 'Men whose vocation calls us to dangers substantial': health care in the early English East India Company, 1601–11 Cheryl Fury	426

19	English trading companies and the sea, 1550–1650: ‘beyond the seas merchant like’ Edmond J. Smith	447
20	Transatlantic tubers: New World potatoes in early modern English literature Edward McLean Test	469
Part IV
Cultural seas		491
21	Mutable, associative, and ugly: oceanic feelings in Middle English literature and medieval natural science Matthew Boyd Goldie	493
22	Enter Jack Tar: the blue-water mariner in early modern world literature Dan Brayton	514
23	Early modern maritime heroes: idols of the sea Claire Jowitt	533
24	Sea music and shipboard performance culture James Seth	559
25	‘We split!’: shipwreck in early modern European history and culture Steve Mentz	580
	Index	598