Introductory Statement to the Student and the Teacher	xiii
PART ONE GUIDELINES FOR THE CLASSIFICATION, EVALUATION AND UTILIZATION OF SOCIAL RESEARCH	1
CHAPTER 1 Consumption of Research: An Introduction	2
The Purpose of This Book	2
Learning How to Consume Research Reports	5
Should a Research Report Be Read at All?	6
Types of Empirical Social Research	8
Research for Social Work	9
Available Guidelines for Assessing Empirical Research	11
Major Assumptions and Sources of Guidelines for Assessing Empirical Research	12
The Use of Guidelines for Assessment of Empirical Research	16

CHAPTER 2	Classification of Research	18
	Development of a Classification System	18
	An Overview of the Classification System	21
	Experimental Studies	26
	Definition	26
	Laboratory Experiments	30
	Field Experiments	32
	Quantitative-Descriptive Studies	34
	Definition	34
	Hypothesis Testing Studies	39
	Program Evaluation Studies	41
	Population Description Studies	42
	Variable Relationship Studies	44
	Exploratory Studies	45
	Definition	45
	Combined Exploratory-Descriptive Studies	49
	Studies Using Specific Data Collection Procedures	51
	Experimental Manipulation Studies	52
	Summary of Classification System	54
	How to Use the Classification System	55
	An Application of the Classification System	57
CHAPTER 3	Evaluation of Research: Principles and Guidelines	60
	Guidelines for Evaluation: An Overview	62
	General Perspective on Evaluation	67
	First Steps in Evaluation	69
	Guidelines for Evaluation of Experimental Studies	70
	Evaluation Questions: Experimental Studies	80
	Guidelines for Evaluation of Quantitative-Descriptive Studies	81
	Evaluation Questions: Quantitative-Descriptive Studies	86
	Guidelines for Evaluation of Exploratory Studies	87
	Evaluation Questions: Exploratory Studies	92
CHAPTER 4	Utilization of Research: Principles and Guidelines	94
	Utilization Frameworks: An Overview	95
	Utilization: General Perspective	99
	Utilization: Some General Problems and the Key Questions	105

General Guidelines for Utilization of Research	108
Should the Research Report Be Read at All?	108
To What Aspect of Social Work is the Research Relevant?	108
The objects of social work interest or activity	109
Current or potential objects of social work	110
The value perspective toward the objects of social work	111
The level on which the objects of social work are viewed	112
The social work purpose of the research	114
What knowledge content of the research may be useful?	115
How useful can the research knowledge be for practice?	117
What types of use can be made of the research?	121
Summary of Major Questions as General Guidelines to Utilization of Empirical Research Studies	123
First Steps in Utilization	125
Utilization of Different Types of Studies: Some Special Considerations	126
Experimental Studies	126
Quantitative-Descriptive Studies	127
Exploratory Studies	130

PART TWO THE ASSESSMENT OF SOCIAL RESEARCH: PRACTICAL APPLICATIONS 131

CHAPTER 5 Assessment of Experimental Studies	134
"The Effect of Therapist's Training on Group Therapeutic Outcome," by Ernest G. Poser	135
An Assessment of the Poser Study	147
Classification	147
Evaluation:
Problem Formulation	148
Research Design and Data Collection	153
Data Analysis and Conclusions	158
Utilization	162
Recommended References for the Reader	165
"A Study of Anchoring Effects in Clinical Judgment," by Ben A. Orcutt	166

Exercise for the Reader: Assessment of the Orcutt Study	179
Classification	179
Evaluation	179
Utilization	180
Recommended References for the Reader	181

CHAPTER 6 Assessment of Quantitative-Descriptive Studies 182

“The Role of the Social Worker in a Child Protective Agency,” by Andrew Billingsley	183
An Assessment of the Billingsley Study	196
Classification	196
Evaluation:
Problem Formulation	198
Research Design and Data Collection	202
Data Analysis and Conclusions	206
Utilization	211
Recommended References for the Reader	215
“Power Balance and Staff Conflict in Correctional Institutions,” by Mayer N. Zald	216
Exercise for the Reader: Assessment of the Zald Study	239
Classification	239
Evaluation	239
Utilization	240
Recommended References for the Reader	240

CHAPTER 7 Assessment of Exploratory Studies 242

“Community Leadership: A Case Study and Conceptual Refinement,” by Charles M. Bonjean	243
An Assessment of the Bonjean Study	256
Classification	256
Evaluation:
Problem Formulation	258
Research Design and Data Collection	262
Data Analysis and Conclusions	266
Utilization	269
Recommended References for the Reader	272
“Introducing Institutionalized Retardates to the Community,” by Joseph J. Parnicky and Leonard N. Brown	273

Exercise for the Reader: Assessment of the Parnicky and Brown Study	282
Classification	282
Evaluation	282
Utilization	283
Recommended References for the Reader	283
Bibliographic References	284
Name Index	291
Subject Index	294
