

Contents

List of figures	page vii
List of contributors	ix

Introduction	1
Andreas Immanuel Graae and Kathrin Maurer

Part I: Visions

1 Flattened vision: nineteenth-century hot air balloons as early drones	19
Kathrin Maurer
2 Signature strikes, drone art and world-making	39
Thomas Stubblefield
3 The drone of data	55
Jan Mieszkowski
4 Empathy and the image under surveillance capitalism: interview with photographer Tomas van Houtryve	74
Tomas van Houtryve and Svea Braeunert

Part II: Bodies

5 Disappearing, appearing, and reappearing: imaging the human body in drone warfare	91
Svea Braeunert
6 The gender politics of the drone	110
Lauren Wilcox
7 Borders and migration as seen from above	130
Rasmus Degnbol and Andreas Immanuel Graae

Part III: Communities

8	Swarm of steel: insects, drones and swarming in Ernst Jünger's The Glass Bees Andreas Immanuel Graae	149
9	Artificial intelligence and the socio-technical imaginary: on Skynet, self-healing swarms and Slaughterbots Jutta Weber	167
10	Stranger things: a techno-bestiary of drones in art and war Claudette Lauzon	180
11	Eyes in the skies: Repellent Fence and trans-Indigenous time-space at the US–Mexico border Caren Kaplan	203
	Coda: the life, death, and rebirth of drone art Arthur Holland Michel	225
	Index	239