

Table of Contents

|   |      |
|---|------|
| Acknowledgements ... ..   | IX   |
| Abbreviations and Editorial Conventions ... ..                        | XIII |
| List of Illustrations ... ..  | XV   |
| Introduction ... ..   | 1    |
| Book history ... ..   | 3    |
| Legal history ... ..  | 7    |
| Political culture ... ..  | 10   |
| Method and sources ... ..   | 13   |
| Outline ... ..  | 20   |
| Terminology ... ..  | 21   |
| CHAPTER ONE: Governing the German Duchy ... ..                        | 23   |
| The discovery of print ... ..   | 24   |
| ‘For the common good’: ruling Württemberg ... ..                      | 34   |
| Addressing immediate concerns ... ..                                  | 47   |
| The interplay of ordinances ... ..                                    | 54   |
| ‘A humble request’: appeals and law-making processes ... ..           | 60   |
| To print or not to print: the dissemination of official announcements | 66   |
| Conclusion ... ..   | 67   |
| CHAPTER TWO: The Dukes’ Printers ... ..                               | 69   |
| Printing for the government ... ..                                    | 71   |
| Trial and error in Württemberg ... ..                                 | 78   |
| Hans Wehrlich von Erfurt in Stuttgart (1522–1524) ... ..              | 82   |
| Ulrich Morhart – the loyal servant ... ..                             | 84   |
| Family business. Morhart’s legacy ... ..                              | 89   |
| Obstructive cooperation ... ..  | 101  |
| Conclusion ... ..   | 106  |

|   |     |
|---|-----|
| CHAPTER THREE: Governing the German City ... ..                       | 107 |
| Cologne ... ..  | 108 |
| Proclaiming law and order ... ..                                      | 111 |
| Official publications ... ..  | 118 |
| Printing law and order, 1500–1550 ... ..                              | 122 |
| ‘In these dangerous times – printed ordinances in Cologne 1550–1600   | 135 |
| Printing ordinances to overcome times of trouble in Antwerp ... ..    | 148 |
| The council’s limited use of print... ..                              | 151 |
| Conclusion ... ..   | 154 |
|   |     |
| CHAPTER FOUR: The Council’s Printers ... ..                           | 157 |
| Cologne as a print centre... ..                                       | 158 |
| Printing for municipal governments... ..                              | 162 |
| ‘Our well-known and trusted printer’ – prestigious print orders... .. | 172 |
| Small print produced in big print shops ... ..                        | 185 |
| The printing councillor ... ..  | 201 |
| Conclusion ... ..   | 208 |
|   |     |
| Conclusion ... ..   | 211 |
| Intention ... ..  | 212 |
| Size of jurisdiction ... ..   | 213 |
| Type of government ... ..   | 214 |
| Special circumstances ... ..  | 214 |
| Local print industry... ..  | 215 |
|   |     |
| Sources and Bibliography... ..  | 219 |
| Archival sources ... ..   | 219 |
| Early modern printed books not listed in the appendix... ..           | 222 |
| Edited primary sources ... ..   | 240 |
| Internet sources ... ..   | 240 |
| Works of reference ... ..   | 241 |
| Secondary sources ... ..  | 242 |
| Unpublished work ... ..   | 257 |

Appendix ... .. 259

    Note to the appendix ... .. 259

    Archives and libraries ... .. 260

    Bibliographies and reference works ... .. 260

    Württemberg ... .. 261

    Cologne ... .. 268

Index ... .. 345