

Contents

Preface	page 7
PART ONE THE HUMAN MASS	17
I The Individual and the Mass
1. Towards an Operational Concept
2. Collective Phenomena
From crowd to public
The public: grouping by remote control
The mass or universal solitude
3. Convergence of Individual Choice
II Mass Man and Mass Society	27
1. Mass Man
2. Mass Movements
3. Mass Society
III Mass Culture	33
1. Culture—Homogeneous and Fluid
2. The Problem of the Élites
3. Culture—Élite, Popular and Mass
PART TWO MASSIVE COMMUNICATION
IV Communication: Means and Methods	45
1. Communication and Communications
2. Secondary Techniques or the Extension of the Radius of Communication
3. Massive Techniques: A New Era in Communication
V Communication in the Mass-media	58
1. Impersonal Communication
2. The Models
The archetypes
The osmotypes
The leadertypes
VI Mass-media and Culture	67
1. Critical Arguments
Ephemerality
Selection of the vulgar
Conformity
2. The Communication-Art Misunderstanding
3. A New Notion of Culture

ANONYMOUS COMMUNICATION
PART THREE THE HUMAN MASS AND THE MASS-MEDIA AUDIENCE
VII Mass Level	79
1. Hypothesis of Human Levels
2. Selection Levels in Mass-media Audiences
VIII Selective Predispositions	86
1. Group Adherence
2. Personal Factors
3. Mass Selection
IX Meeting Point	96
PART FOUR COMMON CONTENTS
X The Facts: Surveys and Inquiries	101
1. The Press
2. The Magazine
3. The Best Seller
4. The Radio
5. The Cinema
6. The Television
XI Convergences and Orientation	122
1. Themes and Topics
2. Tendencies
3. Codification
PART FIVE THE MAKERS AND THE CENSORS
XII Dictatorship of Supply	129
1. The Financiers
2. The Artisans
3. The Diffusers
XIII The Powers of Control	144
1. Pressure Groups
2. The State and Censorship
XIV Anonymous Demand	151
1. Knowing the Demand
2. The Power of Demand and Its Limits
PART SIX ANONYMOUS COMMUNICATION
XV Conclusion The Contents of Anonymous Communication	161
1. Anonymous Contents and Common Symbols
2. Anonymous Contents and Expectation at Mass Level
Mythology and praxis
Private life and extra-determination
Anxiety and security

CONTENTS

XVI	Prospective The Function of Anonymous Communication	169
	1. Relative Function
	2. Preservation, Evolution and Revolution
	Preservation
	Evolution
	Revolution
	Bibliographical Index	176
	Select Bibliography	177
	References	183
	Index	187