

CONTENTS

List of Figures vii

List of Tables ix

Introduction 1

John P. McCarthy and Craig Lukezic

SECTION I. SETTING THE STAGE

1. Why the Dutch? The Historical Context of New Netherland 9

Charles T. Gehring

2. Between Trade and Tradition: Household Ceramic Assemblages from Amsterdam in the Age of Early Modern Globalization 16

Marijn Stolk

SECTION II. THE NORTH RIVER

3. Finding New Netherland in New Jersey: Retrospect and Prospect 33

Ian Burrow

4. Quamhemesicos (Van Schaick) Island: Archaeological and Historical Evidence of European-Mahican Interactions at the Twilight of Dutch Colonialism in New York 54

Adam Luscier and Matthew Kirk

5. A Mid-Seventeenth-Century Drinking House in New Netherland 72

Michael T. Lucas and Kristina S. Traudt

6. A Synthesis of Dutch Faunal Remains Recovered from Seventeenth-Century Sites in the Albany Region 91

Marie-Lorraine Pipes

7. Woman the Trader: Native Women in New Netherland 120

Anne-Marie Cantwell and Diana diZerega Wall

SECTION III. THE SOUTH RIVER

8. Tamecongh, or Aresapa, to New Castle 139

Lu Ann De Cunzo

9. Resetting the Starting Point: Archaeological Investigations of Fort Casimir in New Castle 159

Wade P. Catts and Craig Lukezic

10. Wolf Traps in Seventeenth-Century Delaware 175

William B. Liebeknecht

11. Fort New Gothenburg and the Printzhof: The First Center of Swedish Government in Pennsylvania 189

Marshall Joseph Becker

SECTION IV. ARTIFACT STUDIES

12. By Any Other Name: Kookpotten or Grapen? Little Pots, Big Stories 201

Meta F. Janowitz and Richard G. Schaefer

13. Marbles in Dutch Colonial New Netherland 223

Paul R. Huey

14. Thank You for Smoking: The Archaeological Legacy of Edward Bird's Tobacco Pipes in New Netherland and Beyond 242

David A. Furlow

Conclusion: A New World Made by Trade 253

Craig Lukezic and John P. McCarthy

References Cited 261

List of Contributors 295

Index 297