

CONTENTS

Preface		ix
One	Introduction and Overview	1
	A General Outline of This Book	4
	Ways of Looking at Behavior	5
	Orientations to Behaviorism	7
Two	The Operant (Consequential) Model	17
	The Ecology of Consequences	18
	Superstitious Behavior (Accidental Conditioning)	22
	Schedules	23
	Antecedent Events	28
	Potentiating Variables	32
	Satiation	32
	The Premack Principle	34
	Stimulus Props	35
	Topographical and Functional Definitions of Behavior in the Operant Orientation	36
	The Program	38
	The Operant Paradigm	39
	Translation of the Operant Model into Techniques of Behavioral Change	40
Three	A Constructional Approach to Self Control, by Israel Goldiamond	67
	An Overview	74
	Program Decisions and Analysis	88
	Case Presentation Guide	91
	The Contract	93
	Intervention: Change Procedures, an Overview	99

	A Contingency Analysis of Emotions	112
	Weekly Worksheets	116
	Termination and Carry-over	128
Four	The Smith Case, by Israel Goldiamond and Arthur Schwartz	131
	Intake and Initial Interview: the Self Control Questionnaire	132
	The Second Interview	161
	Setting the Contract	169
	Intervention Procedures	177
	Follow-up	191
Five	The Johnson Case	193
	Initial Interview with Mrs. Johnson	193
	Initial Interview with Mr. Johnson	210
	Summary of Initial Interview with Mrs. Johnson	221
	Summary of Initial Interview with Mr. Johnson	224
	Some Comparisons of the Smith and Johnson Cases	226
	Contract Negotiations	227
	The Process	229
Six	Interventions Based on the Pavlovian and Modeling Orientations	239
	Therapies Based on the Classical Conditioning Model	239
	The Aversion Therapies	248
	The Modeling Approach	254
	Combination of Modeling and Reinforcement Principles	265
Seven	The Behavioral Approach and Social Casework Today	269
	Misconceptions and Popular "Myths" about Behavior Modification	271
	The Self Control Model, the Behavioral Contract, and Self-Determination	273

Contents	vii
The Medical and Other Models	283
The Self Control Model and the Contemporary Casework Scene	287
Future Developments in Social Casework: from Treatment to Prevention	289
References	297
Name Index	309
Subject Index	312