

Contents

1	One way of becoming a termite	1
2	Locked-down in a space that's still pretty vast	8
3	'Earth' is a proper noun	17
4	'Earth' is feminine – 'Universe' is masculine	27
5	A whole cascade of engendering troubles	38
6	'Here below' – except there is no up above	48
7	Letting the economy bob to the surface	58
8	Describing a territory – only, the right way round	69
9	The unfreezing of the landscape	78
10	Mortal bodies are piling up	91
11	The return of ethnogeneses	99
12	Some pretty strange battles	109
13	Scattering in all directions	118
14	A little further reading	129