

Contents

Introduction	1
1 Edging Toward Ecology in Early American Natural History	7
2 Literary Activism and the Bioregional Agenda	27
3 West of Winthrop: Landscape and Language in Washington Territory	41
4 An Iconography of Sabotage	59
5 Rage Against the Machine: Edward Abbey and Neo-Luddite Thought	93
6 Overtures to Sublimity: Assessing the Bureau of Reclamation Art Collection	101
7 American Nature Writing and the Wise-Use Movement	135
8 Greening the Dramatic Canon: Henrik Ibsen's An Enemy of the People	155
9 Gifts and Misgivings in Place	169
10 Restoring Bioregions Through Applied Composition	185
Acknowledgments	203
Works Cited	205
Index	219
About the Author	237