

Contents

List of Illustrations	page vii
List of Contributors	viii
Preface and Acknowledgments	xi

Introduction: Toward a History of Women's International Thought	1
PATRICIA OWENS AND KATHARINA RIETZLER

Part I. Canonical Thinkers

1. Anna Julia Cooper on Slavery's Afterlife: Can International Thought "Hear" Her "Muffled" Voice and Ideas?	29
VIVIAN M. MAY
2. Revolutionary Thinking: Luxemburg's Socialist International Theory	52
KIMBERLY HUTCHINGS
3. Of Colonialism and Corpses: Simone Weil on Force	72
HELEN M. KINSELLA
4. Ideas in Action: Eslanda Robeson's International Thought after 1945	93
IMAOBONG D. UMOREN

Part II. Outsiders

5. Elizabeth Lippincott McQueen: Thinking International Peace in an Air-Minded Age	115
TAMSON PIETSCH

6.	Women of the Twenty Years' Crisis: The Women's International League for Peace and Freedom and the Problem of Collective Security LUCIAN M. ASHWORTH	136
7.	Theorizing (with) Amy Ashwood Garvey ROBBIE SHILLIAM	158
8.	"The Dark Skin[ned] People of the Eastern World": Mittie Maude Lena Gordon's Vision of Afro-Asian Solidarity KEISHA N. BLAIN	179
9.	Elizabeth Wiskemann, Scholar-Journalist, and the Study of International Relations GEOFFREY FIELD	198
Part III. Thinking in or around the Academy
10.	From F. Melian Stawell to E. Greene Balch: International and Internationalist Thinking at the Gender Margins, 1919–1947 GLENDA SLUGA	223
11.	Race, Gender, Empire, and War in the International Thought of Emily Greene Balch CATIA C. CONFORTINI	244
12.	Beyond Illusions: Imperialism, Race, and Technology in Merze Tate's International Thought BARBARA D. SAVAGE	266
13.	A Plan for Plenty: The International Thought of Barbara Wootton OR ROSENBOIM	286
14.	Collective Security for Common Men and Women: Vera Micheles Dean and US Foreign Relations ANDREW JEWETT	306
15.	What Can We (She) Know about Sovereignty? Krystyna Marek and the Worldedness of International Law NATASHA WHEATLEY	327
	Index	345