

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Note on the Translations	ix
Introduction	1

Part I. The Great Discourse on the Future

1: Utopians and Utopian Thought	17
2: Futurists and Futures Studies	33
3: Utopian/Dystopian Writers and Utopian/Dystopian Fiction	46
4: Science Fiction: The Nexus of Utopianism, Futurism, and Utopian Fiction	61

Part II. German Science Fiction in the Twentieth and Twenty-First Centuries

5: Some Preliminary Thoughts on German Science Fiction	77
6: First Contact: Martians, Sentient Plants, and Swarm Intelligences	84
7: The Shock of the New: Mega Cities, Machines, and Rockets	104
8: Utopian Experiments: Island Idylls, Glass Beads, and Eugenic Nightmares	110
9: To the Stars! Cosmic Supermen and Bauhaus in Space	122
10: Visions of the End: Catastrophism and Moral Entropy	133
11: Virtual Realities: Caught in the Matrix	149

12: Alternative Histories: Into the Heart of Darkness	157
13: Big Brother Is Watching Us: Who Is Watching Big Brother?	170
14: Artificial Intelligences: The Rise of the Thinking Machines	178
15: Eternal Life: At What Cost?	188
16: Social Satires: Of Empty Slogans and Empty Hearts	193
17: Critical Posthumanism: Twilight of the Species or a New Dawn?	207
18: High Concept: Time, the Universe, and Everything	215
Conclusion	229
Appendix 1: Chronological List of German SF Novels—A Selection	237
Appendix 2: Chronological List of German SF Films—A Selection	239
Notes	241
Bibliography	275
Index	315