

Contents

Letter from Otto Klineberg	9
I
Samir Amin: Some Thoughts on Methods of Analysing the Modern World	11
Herb Addo: Notes on the Making of a Third World Social Scientist in the Capitalist World	31
Anna Anfossi: Memoir of an Italian Sociologist	38
Mihailo Marković: The Purpose of Social Science Research ...	46
Bert V. A. Röling: The Lawyer as a Social Scientist	53
Alain Joxe: Parabole du dragon sec et de la grande pyramide et biographie politique d'enfance	69
M. Taghi Farvar: Thirty Lessons from My Professional and Political Work in Iran	79
II
Ricard Falk: On Writing a History of the Future	87
Roy Preiswerk: Intercultural Relations: New Field of Study in the Social Science?	92
Peter Heintz: The Study of World Society: Some Reasons Pro et Contra	97
Patrick Healey: Towards a Human Social Science	101
Eleonora Barbieri Masini: Visions of Desirable Societies	110
Andrzej Siciński: Human Life as 'An Art' and as 'A Craft' and the Role of Social Sciences	113
Håkan Wiberg: Justification of Social Science	116
III
Hiroharu Seki: Reopening of the Cold War and the Crisis of the World Order	122
Dieter Senghaas: Überwundene Unterentwicklung im modernen Weltssystem. Eine historisch-unhistorische Betrachtung	139

IV
Adam Curle: Action Research as Part of Peace Making	151
Chadwick F. Alger: Empowering People for Global Participation	155
Raimo Väyrynen: Towards a Growing Contradiction between Research and Diplomacy?	162
Nils Petter Gleditsch and Owen Wilkes: Research on Intelligence	170

V
Arne Naess: Whole Philosophies as Data and as Constructs ...	182
Erik Allardt: Trying to Reconcile Galtung and Durkheim	189
Ulf Himmelstrand: On Change, Watersheds, Dialectical Succession, and J. Galtung's Recent Idealism	194
Solomon Marcus: Why Mathematics in Social Sciences?	206
I. Bestuzhev-Lada: Problems of Social Forecasting	213
A Johan Galtung con Danilo Dolci	218
The Editors	220
The Contributors	221