• Detailed Contents •

Preface xix

Acknowledgments xxii

About the Author xxiv

PART I • INTRODUCTION 1

Chapter 1 • Why Increase Media Literacy? 2

The Information Problem 3
Growth Is Accelerating 4
High Degree of Exposure 5
Keeping Up 5
Dealing with the Information Problem 6
Our Mental Hardware 6
Our Mental Software 6
Automatic Routines 7
Advantages and Disadvantages 9
The Big Question 9
Summary 11
Further Reading 11
Keeping Up to Date 12

Chapter 2 • Media Literacy Approach 13

What Is Media Literacy? 14
The Three Building Blocks of Media Literacy 15
Skills 16
Knowledge Structures 20
Personal Locus 22
The Definition of Media Literacy 23
Media Literacy Is Multidimensional 24
Media Literacy Is a Continuum, Not a Category 25
The Development of Media Literacy 26
Advantages of Developing a Higher Degree of Media Literacy 28
Appetite for Wider Variety of Media Messages 28
More Self-Programming of Mental Codes 29
More Control over Media 30

Summary 30
Further Reading 30
Exercise 31

PART II • EFFECTS 33

Chapter 3 • Broadening Our Perspective on Media Effects 34

Four-Dimensional Analytical Tool 36
Timing of Effects 36
Valence of Effects 37
Consumer Perspective 37
Media Business Perspective 37
Intentionality of Effects 38
Consumer Perspective 38
Media Business Perspective 39
Type of Effects 39
Cognitive-Type Effect 39
Belief-Type Effect 40
Attitudinal-Type Effect 40
Physiological-Type Effect 42
Emotional-Type Effect 42
Behavioral-Type Effect 43
Macro-Type Effects 43
Using the Four-Dimensional Analytic Tool 45
The Example of Addiction 45
The Analysis 46
Becoming More Media Literate 47
Summary 48
Further Reading 49
Exercises 51

Chapter 4 • How Does the Media Effects Process Work? 53

Media Effects Are Constantly Occurring 55
Manifested Effects and Process Effects 55
Baseline Effects and Fluctuation Effects 56
Factors Influencing Media Effects 58
Baseline Factors 59
Demographics 59
Developmental Maturities 59
Cognitive Abilities 60
Personal Locus 60
Knowledge Structures 61
Sociological Factors 62
Media Exposure Habits 62

Fluctuation Factors 62
Content of the Messages 63
Context of Portrayals 63
Cognitive Complexity of Content 63
Motivations 63
States 64
Degree of Identification 64
Process of Influence 65
Thinking about Blame 65
Becoming More Media Literate 66
Summary 66
Further Reading 68
Keeping Up to Date 68
Exercises 69

PART III • INDUSTRY 71

Chapter 5 • Development of the Mass Media Industries 72

The Evolution Pattern 74
Stages of Evolution 74
Innovation Stage 74
Penetration Stage 75
Peak Stage 76
Decline Stage 77
Adaptation Stage 78
Comparisons across Mass Media 78
Revolution Pattern of Development 81
The Analog Media 81
Channel 81
Decision Making 82
Messages 83
The Digital Media 83
Channel 83
Decision Making 84
Messages 85
Range of Experiences 85
Convergence 88
Profile of Mass Media Workforce 91
Summary 94
Further Reading 95
Keeping Up to Date 96
Exercises 96

Chapter 6 • Economic Perspective 99

The Media Game of Economics 101
The Players 101
The Goal 105
Characteristics of the Game 106
Nature of Competition 106
Complex Interdependency among Players 107
Importance of Valuing Resources Well 108
Digital Convergence 109
Media Industry Strategies 110
Maximizing Profits 110
Increasing Revenue 110
Minimizing Expenses 111
Constructing Audiences 112
Attracting People to Niche Audiences 113
Conditioning Audiences 114
Reducing Risk 114
Consumers' Strategies 116
Default Strategy 116
Media Literacy Strategy 116
Summary 119
Further Reading 120
Keeping Up to Date 120
Exercises 121

PART IV • AUDIENCE 123

Chapter 7 • Audience: Industry Perspective 124

The Shift from Mass to Niche Perspective on Audience 126
What Is a Mass Audience? 126
Rejection of the Idea of a Mass Audience 127
The Idea of Niche Audiences 128
Identifying Niches 129
Geographic Segmentation 130
Demographic Segmentation 130
Social Class Segmentation 131
Geodemographic Segmentation 131
Psychographic Segmentation 131
Twelve American Lifestyles 132
VALS Typology 132
Attracting Audiences 133
Appeal to Existing Needs and Interests 133
Cross-Media and Cross-Vehicle Promotion 134
Conditioning Audiences 135

Summary 137
Further Reading 137
Exercises 138

Chapter 8 • Audience: Individual Perspective 141

Information Processing 143
Filtering 143
Meaning Matching 146
Meaning Construction 147
Analyzing the Idea of Exposure to Media Messages 149
Exposure and Attention 150
Physical Exposure 150
Perceptual Exposure 150
Psychological Exposure 152
Attention 152
Exposure States 153
Automatic State 153
Attentional State 154
Transported State 154
Self-Reflexive State 155
Information-Processing Traits 155
Cognitive Traits 155
Field Independency 155
Crystalline Intelligence 157
Fluid Intelligence 157
Conceptual Differentiation 159
Emotional Traits 159
Emotional Intelligence 159
Tolerance for Ambiguity 160
Non-impulsiveness 160
The Media Literacy Approach 161
Processing Information 161
Tools 162
Summary 163
Further Reading 164
Exercises 165

PART V • CONTENT 167

Chapter 9 • Entertainment 168

What Is Entertainment? 170
Audience's Perspective 170
Programmers' Perspective 171
Patterns 172

Content Analysis Method 172
Character Patterns 173
Controversial Elements 175
Health 178
Body Image 179
Telling Stories as a Business 179
Story Formulas 180
General Story Formula 181
Genres 182
Comedy 182
Drama 183
Romance 184
Challenges 185
Different Media 185
Changing Public Taste 186
Dealing with Risk 186
Becoming Media Literate with Entertainment Messages 188
Appreciate the Blend of Reality and Fantasy 188
Appreciate Story Formulas 191
Summary 192
Further Reading 192
Keeping Up to Date 193
Exercises 194

Chapter 10 • Advertising 197

Advertising Is Pervasive 199
Advertising Strategies 201
Traditional Strategy 202
Digital Strategies 203
Tools of Advertising 205
Tools for Identifying Audiences 205
Tools for Persuading Audiences 206
Search Engine Optimization 206
Recommender Systems 207
Ratings Services 209
Buying Funnel 209
Becoming More Media Literate with Advertising 211
Analyze Your Personal Needs 212
Analyze Ads 214
Look for Differences 215
Evaluate the Ads 215
Summary 216
Further Reading 216

Keeping Up to Date 217
Exercises 218

Chapter 11 • News 222

Dynamic Nature of News 224
Rise and Fall of "Big News" 225
Shift to Online Sources of News 226
Changes in the Need for News 227
Changes in News Content 227
More Immediate 228
More Local 228
Shorter News Stories 229
Multimedia Stories 229
Different Perspectives on News 230
Political Philosophy Perspective 231
Professional Journalism Perspective 231
Economic Perspective 232
Marketing Perspective 232
Standards for Evaluating News 234
By Type of Producer 234
By News Criteria 236
By Accuracy 236
By News Perspective 241
How Can We Become More Media Literate with News? 242
Exposure Matters 242
Quality Matters 243
Be Analytical 245
Evaluate Facts 245
Evaluate the News Story 245
Be Skeptical 246
Summary 247
Further Reading 247
Keeping Up to Date 249
Exercises 249

Chapter 12 • Competitive Experiences 254

Attraction to Digital Games 257
Who Are the Players? 257
Why the Attraction? 258
The Game-Playing Experience 259
Creating Digital Game Platforms 260
Designing Digital Games 260
Marketing Digital Games 261

Types of Games 262
Massively Multiplayer Online Role-Playing Games (MMORPGs) 262
Digital Games as Sport 264
Addiction to Digital Games 265
Addiction Defined 266
The Addiction Progression 266
Displacement 267
Dependence 268
Addiction 269
Media Literacy 270
Personal Implications 270
Broader Concerns 271
Summary 272
Further Reading 273
Keeping Up to Date 273
Exercise 274

Chapter 13 • Social Networking Experiences 275

Friendship 276
History 276
Attraction 278
Effects 280
Negative Effects 280
Both Negative and Positive Effects 281
Dating 282
Attraction 283
Dangers 283
Living 284
Second Life 284
Farmville 286
The Sims 287
Attraction to Virtual Worlds 287
Opinion Sharing 290
Blogs 290
Attraction 291
Media Literacy with Social Networking 292
Summary 293
Further Reading 293
Keeping Up to Date 294
Exercise 294

Chapter 14 • Acquisition Experiences 295

Information 296
Music 297

Video 298
Shopping 298
Acquisition Issues 300
Shopping Addiction 300
Piracy 301
The Economy 304
Media Literacy with Acquisition Platforms 305
Summary 305
Further Reading 306
Keeping Up to Date 306
Exercises 306

PART VI • SPRINGBOARD 311

Chapter 15 • Helping Yourself and Others to Increase Media Literacy 312

Helping Yourself 313
Ten Guidelines 314
1. Strengthen Your Personal Locus 314
2. Develop an Accurate Awareness of Your Exposure Patterns 314
3. Acquire a Broad Base of Useful Knowledge 315
4. Think About the Reality–Fantasy Continuum 316
5. Examine Your Mental Codes 316
6. Examine Your Opinions 317
7. Change Behaviors 317
8. Become More Skilled at Designing Messages 318
9. Do Not Take Privacy for Granted 318
10. Take Personal Responsibility 318
Illustrations of Milestones 319
Cognitive Ladder 319
Emotional Ladder 319
Moral Ladder 320
Aesthetic Appreciation Ladder 320
Examples of Levels of Literacy 321
Helping Others 322
Interpersonal Techniques 323
Interventions 325
Public Education 326
Current Situation 326
Barriers 327
What Can You Do? 329
Societal Techniques 330
Summary 331
Keeping Up to Date 333
Exercises 333

INTRODUCTION TO THE ISSUES CHAPTERS 337

Issue 1 • Ownership of Mass Media Businesses 339

Delineating the Issue 340
Arguments against Concentration of Ownership of Media Companies 340
Arguments for Concentration of Ownership of Media Companies 340
Evidence of Concentration 340
Trend toward Concentration 341
Factors Driving the Trend 344
Efficiencies 344
Regulation 345
Deregulation 346
Evidence for Harm 351
Increased Barriers to Entry 351
Reduced Level of Competition 351
Reduced Number of Public Voices 351
Changes in Content 352
Your Own Informed Opinion 353
Expand Your Perspective 353
Analyze the Evidence 353
Ownership and Control 354
Harm 354
Recognize Your Values 355
Localism 355
Efficiency 356
Conclusion 356
Further Reading 357
Keeping Up to Date 358
Applying Media Literacy Skills 358

Issue 2 • Sports 361

Delineating the Issue 361
The Money Cycle 362
Players 364
Owners and Leagues 367
Television Networks 368
Advertisers 369
The Public 370
Olympics 371
Video Gaming 374
The Big Picture 374
Your Own Informed Opinion 375
Cost-Benefit Analysis 375
Implications 376
Extend Your Knowledge 376

Further Reading 377
Keeping Up to Date 377
Applying Media Literacy Skills 378

Issue 3 • Media Violence 382

Delineating the Issue 382
Public's Perspective 384
Limiting the Scope of Harmful Effects 384
Equating Violence with Graphicness 388
Focusing on Frequency over Context 390
Producers' Faulty Beliefs 391
Violence Is Necessary to Storytelling 391
Blame Others, Not Producers 392
Your Own Informed Opinion 392
Implications for Individuals 392
Implications for Producers 393
Moving Beyond Faulty Thinking 394
Further Reading 396
Applying Media Literacy Skills 397

Issue 4 • Privacy 399

Delineating the Issue 400
Criminal Threats to Your Privacy 402
Stealing Private Information 402
Direct Theft 402
Indirect Theft 403
Economic Purposes 405
Political Purposes 406
Hijacking Computers 406
Destroying Information 407
Noncriminal Threats to Your Privacy 408
Monitoring Activity 409
Collecting and Selling Information 413
Spamming 415
Controlling 417
Public Opinion and Regulations 418
Public Opinion 418
Regulations 419
Your Own Informed Opinion 421
Map Your Expectation of Privacy 421
Information Assessment 422
Threat Assessment 423
Privacy Strategy 423
Remove Private Information 424
Correct Inaccuracies 424

Subvert Invasion of Privacy Practices 424
Limit Cookies 425
Download Software to Protect Your Computer from Threats to Your Privacy 425
Continually Monitor Threats 426
Further Reading 426
Keeping Up to Date 428
Applying Media Literacy Skills 429

Glossary 431
References 441
Index 461