

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Introduction: from local to global and back again	1
1 Small-scale farming and the ethics of proximity in Wendell Berry's Jayber Crow	37
2 Wilderness and place in Gary Snyder's The Practice of the Wild	58
3 Industrialisation and displacement in John Berger's Into Their Labours trilogy	75
4 Colonisation and displacement in Kim Scott's That Deadman Dance	94
5 Slow violence and neocolonialism in Helon Habila's Oil on Water	115
6 Universalism and embodied knowledge in Amitav Ghosh's The Hungry Tide	133
Conclusion: Ecocritical communities	151
Bibliography	159
Index	173