

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Introduction: Modernism and the Emergent Anthropocene Jon Hegglund and John McIntyre	ix
PART I: MODERNISM-ANTHROPOCENE ENCOUNTERS
1 Revolt against the Anthropos : The Human-Environment Conflicts in D. H. Lawrence Joseph Anderton	3
2 Vorticism in an Age of Climate Change Jessica Martell	21
3 Hart Crane: A Poet of Our Climate Robert Savino Oventile	39
4 “What kind of creature uttered it . . . ?”: A Stratigraphy of Subjectivity in Samuel Beckett’s The Unnamable Emily Chester	59
PART II: PLANETARY TIME AND SPACE
5 The Modernist Cosmos: Olaf Stapledon, Pierre Teilhard de Chardin, and the Crisis of Species Timothy Wientzen	79
6 Modernist Planets and Planetary Modernism Joshua Schuster	97

7	Early Ecology and Climate Change in the Future Histories of H. G. Wells and Olaf Stapledon Ted Howell	115
8	Second Modernism and the Aesthetics of Temporal Scale Charles M. Tung	133
PART III: WRITING MATERIALS
9	Comics: Worldmaking in the Anthropocene Glenn Willmott	153
10	Modernism on Ice: Marianne Moore and the Glacial Imagination Julia E. Daniel	173
11	The Poetics of Modernism's Plastics Michael D. Sloane	191
12	Sky and Smoke: Literary Atmospheric in Cary and Ibuse Stuart Christie	209
	Index	229
	About the Editors and Contributors	243