Contents

Preface 7

CHAPTER ONE
A Marxist Critical Approach to Urban and Regional Development 9

The theoretical-methodological problems of a Marxist interpretation of modern societies 9
The foundations of a critical approach to the urban and regional question 18
Class conflict and urban development 30
The capitalist state, the fiscal crisis and territorial policies 40
The new structure of the labour market and the crisis of urbanism 55
Recent urban and regional studies 63

CHAPTER TWO
Territorial Division of Labour and Capitalist Development 72

Mode of production and transition 72
Patterns of capital accumulation and urban development 73
Primary accumulation and industrial 'take-off' 75
Role of rural classes: primary accumulation and urbanization 76
Primary accumulation and urbanization in Italy 81
Final thoughts on the comparative analysis of primary accumulation and urbanization 89
Mechanisms of capital accumulation and their complex effect on territory 95
From the city as a factory to the imperialist metropolis 99
Urbanization and economic development in Italy 106
Monopolistic development in Italy, and urban structures 112

CHAPTER THREE
Uneven Territorial Development and the Crisis of Advanced Capitalism 124

Introduction 124
The industrialization process and its territorial logic 126
Monopolistic accumulation and territorial typologies: the industrial areas 128
Accumulation and typologies of underdevelopment 134
Over-urbanization and the underdevelopment cycle 137
The crisis of capitalism and territorial contradictions 144
Uneven development within the Italian economic structure 148
Congestion and dualism in north and central Italy 150
The question of the south and the poles of growth 154

CHAPTER FOUR
Socialism, Class Conflict, and Land-Use 159

From socialist theory to socialist experience 159
The theoretical debate on socialist territorial development 163
The socialist characteristics of the Chinese experience 172
Decentralization as a socialist issue 180

Notes 188

Name Index 204

Subject Index 206