

CONTENTS

---

Introduction by Murray G. Murphey	ix
Human Nature and Conduct : Preface, 3; Introduction, 4	1
PART I: THE PLACE OF HABIT IN CONDUCT: 1. Habits as Social Functions, 15; 2. Habits and Will, 21; 3. Character and Conduct, 33; 4. Custom and Habit, 43; 5. Custom and Morality, 54; 6. Habit and Social Psychology, 60	13
PART II: THE PLACE OF IMPULSE IN CONDUCT: 7. Impulses and Change of Habits, 65; 8. Plasticity of Impulse, 69; 9. Changing Human Nature, 76; 10. Impulse and Conflict of Habits, 88; 11. Classification of Instincts, 92; 12. No Separate Instincts, 104; 13. Impulse and Thought, 117	63
PART III: THE PLACE OF INTELLIGENCE IN CONDUCT: 14. Habit and Intelligence, 121; 15. The Psychology of Thinking, 127; 16. The Nature of Deliberation, 132; 17. Deliberation and Calculation, 139; 18. The Uniqueness of Good, 146; 19. The Nature of Aims, 154; 20. The Nature of Principles, 164; 21. Desire and Intelligence, 171; 22. The Present and Future, 182	119
PART IV: CONCLUSION: 23. The Good of Activity, 193; 24. Morals Are Human, 204; 25. What Is Freedom? 209; 26. Morality Is Social, 216	191
Foreword to the 1930 Modern Library Edition	228

First Edition Pagination Key	231
TEXTUAL APPARATUS: Textual Commentary, 237; Emendations List, 244; Line-end Hyphenation, 247; Checklist of Dewey's References, 249	235
Index	251