

Contents

List of figures	ix
Acknowledgements	x
Acronyms	xi
Biographies	xiii
Introduction: COP21 and the “climatisation” of global debates	1
JEAN FOYER, STEFAN C. AYKUT AND EDOUARD MORENA
1 Governing through verbs: the practice of negotiating and the making of a new mode of governance	18
STEFAN C. AYKUT
2 The necessary and inaccessible 1.5°C objective: a turning point in the relations between climate science and politics?	39
HÉLÈNE GUILLEMOT
3 The business voice at COP21: the quandaries of a global political ambition	57
SARAH BENABOU, NILS MOUSSU AND BIRGIT MÜLLER
4 The ins and outs of climate movement activism at COP21	75
JOOST DE MOOR, EDOUARD MORENA AND JEAN-BAPTISTE COMBY
5 Follow the money: climate philanthropy from Kyoto to Paris	95
EDOUARD MORENA

6	The partial climatisation of migration, security and conflict	116
	LUCILE MAERTENS AND ALICE BAILLAT
7	Climate change, a new “buzzword” for the “perpetual present” of development aid?	135
	AURORE VIARD-CRÉTAT AND CHRISTOPHE BUFFET
8	Objectifying traditional knowledge, re-enchanting the struggle against climate change	153
	JEAN FOYER AND DAVID DUMOULIN KERVRAN
9	The end of fossil fuels? Understanding the partial climatisation of global energy debates	173
	STEFAN C. AYKUT AND MONICA CASTRO
	Index	194