

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Introduction: On ne vous a pas oubliés : Re-Scripting and (Re-)Gendering French Antillean Discourses	I
Part I She Says: Nascent Black French Feminist Thought and the Theorization of “New” Epistemologies of Self
1 The Doudou Strikes Back: Dissecting Doudouisme	39
2 Transatlantic Women’s Voices: The Doudou Writes Back	83
3 Mayotte Capécia: From “I am Martinican” to “I am becoming French”	143
Part II He Says: Black Male Recolonization of Space in the Tropics
4 Deconstruction of the White Creole Myth: Creole Desire and the Flip Side of the Coin	211
5 Whiteness and Masculinity Gone Wild: Rap(e)ture and Impossible Redemption	273
Coda: Who Speaks and for Whom?	331
Bibliography	341
Index	369