

Contents

Alice M. Rivlin and P. Michael Timpane
Introduction and Summary	1
The Balancing of Benefits and Harms	4
Medical Ethics and Informed Consent	7
Protecting Other Rights	13
The Need for Rules and Procedures	14
A Checklist of Ethical Issues in Social Experiments	17
Robert M. Veatch
Ethical Principles in Medical Experimentation	21
History of the Ethics of Medical Experimentation	22
Ethical Principles for Human Experimentation	23
Special Contexts for Experimentation	41
Emerging Themes and Controversies	48
COMMENTS BY DAVID N. KERSHAW	59
Peter G. Brown
Informed Consent in Social Experimentation: Some Cautionary Notes	79
The Doctrine of Informed Consent	80
Relying on Informed Consent	84
Experiments in the Public Interest	99
COMMENTS BY JOSEPH P. NEWHOUSE	100
Edward M. Gramlich and Larry L. Orr
The Ethics of Social Experimentation	105
Ethical Standards of Experimentation	105
To Do or Not to Do the Experiment	108
Ethical Issues in the Health Insurance Experiment	110
Charles L. Schultze
Social Programs and Social Experiments	115
To Whom May We Do Harm?	116

Categories of Social Policies and Experiments	117
Rules for Regulating Harm	119
Application to Social Experiments	121
Alexander Morgan Capron
Social Experimentation and the Law	127
Participants in the Experimental Process	129
Regulation of Experimentation	136
Mandatory Participation in Experiments	147
Thomas C. Schelling
General Comments	165
A Typology of Social Experiments	166
Consent	171
Compensation	172
Ethics for the Protection of Whom or What?	175
Experiments as Precedents	177
Experiments versus Ethics	178
Conference Participants	181
Index of Cases Cited	183
General Index	184