

CONTENTS

Preface	XI
A Note on Orthography	XV
Abbreviations	XVI
I. The Galinhas Country and its Inhabitants	1
1. The Galinhas country	4
2. Sierra Leone and Liberia	6
3. The population of the Galinhas country	6
4. Descent groups, sections and chiefdoms	10
II. Fragments of Evidence from the Seventeenth and Early Eighteenth Centuries	16
1. Ethnolinguistic evidence	16
2. Politics and social control	18
3. Food production	19
4. Early trade with Europeans	20
III. The Growth of the Slave Trade, 1730–1796	22
1. Numbers of slaves exported	24
2. The slave dealers	26
3. The procurement of slaves	28
4. Social and ethnic origins of slaves	34
IV. The Slave Trade at its Height, 1796–1843	37
1. Numbers of slaves exported	38
2. The impact of the slave trade on “legitimate” trade	40
3. The slave dealers	42
4. The procurement of slaves	45
5. Ethnic origins of slaves	52
V. The Emergence of the Galinhas Kingdom, 1796–1843	55
1. The political situation in 1796	55
2. The rise of King Siaka	56
3. Territorial expansion: the Amara Lalu war	62
4. The political situation in 1843	67
5. The spread of Islam	73

	6. Wealth brought by the slave trade	78
VI.	The Decline of the Slave Trade and the Rise of Prince Mana, 1843–1860	81
	1. The destruction of the Atlantic slave trade	81
	2. New outlets for slave exports	83
	3. The impact of the destruction of the Atlantic slave trade	86
	4. Revolts against the rulers of Galinhas	89
	5. Prince Mana's foreign policy: relations with Liberia and Sierra Leone	94
	6. The extent of Prince Mana's power	99
VII.	"Legitimate" Trade and Liberian Intervention, 1860–1872	104
	1. New forms of export trade: Harris and the Sierra Leoneans	104
	2. Warfare and the spread of the Mende	108
	3. The Liberian challenge	110
	4. Prince Mana's achievement	113
VIII.	The Disintegration of the Galinhas Kingdom, 1872–1884	115
	1. The accession of Jaia	115
	2. Escalating warfare	119
	3. Commercial and demographic developments	126
	4. The cession of the coastline, 1882–1883	131
	5. The decline in Jaia's power	135
IX.	The Imposition of British Rule, 1884–1890	140
	1. Warfare and British intervention	140
	2. Proposals to restore the power of the Massaquoi	144
	3. The involvement of the Poro	148
	4. Commercial rivalries	151
	5. Attitudes to British intervention	153
	6. Captain Crawford's expedition	155
X.	Sociocultural Change and Continuity, c. 1650–1890	162
	1. Language	162
	2. Agriculture	165
	3. Settlements and houses	169
	4. Clothing	174
	5. Religion	175
	6. Poro and Sande	179
	7. Law and order	182
	8. Diviners, medicine men and witches	184
	9. Slaves	186
	10. Women	189

Contents

IX

11. Conclusion	191
Bibliography	194
1. Manuscripts	194
2. Books, articles, dissertations etc.	197
3. Newspapers and periodicals	209
4. Parliamentary Papers	209
Index of Personal Names	212
Index of Peoples, Places and Subjects	215