

The Crown and the Cross

Burgundy, France, and the Crusades (1095–1223)

HILARY RHODES

BREPOLS

Contents

Acknowledgments	7
Family tree	8
Map 1	9
Map 2	10
List of abbreviations	11
Introduction	13
Chapter 1
Burgundy at the Dawn of the Crusades: Familial, Political, and Religious Histories	27
I. Geography, territory, and polity: from Carolingians to Capetians, 843–1032	27
II. Politics, family, and power in Burgundy, 1032–95	35
III. Cluny and the prehistory of the crusades: 910–c. 1050	38
IV. Battling the Muslims and Cluniac Reform: Burgundians in Iberia, 1063–87	45
Chapter 2
Considering Contrasts: Burgundian Participation on the First Crusade, 1095–1101	57
I. France and the First Crusade: Clermont, recruitment, and resistance	57
II. Doing Christian duty: Burgundian first crusaders, 1096–99	64
III. Making amends: Burgundy goes on Crusade, 1101	69
IV. Cluny and the crown of France: Odo of Burgundy and the Crusade	77
Chapter 3
Transforming Traditions: The Burgundian Second Crusade, 1102–49	89
I. Dukes, counts, and kings: political change and context, 1102–45	89
II. Canon law and crusader-kings: creating a new political paradigm	97
III. The folly of Christendom? Participation and penance in the Second Crusade	107

Chapter 4

Between King and Emperor: The Evolving Burgundies, 1143–87	117
I. Power struggles and dynastic development: the dukes, 1143–65	117
II. Burgundy and the Holy Land: marriages and expeditions, 1162–79	128
III. Challenges to the crown: France and Burgundy, 1180–87	136

Chapter 5

Intimate Enemies: Burgundy on the Third Crusade, 1187–92	143
I. The fall of Jerusalem and initial response, 1185–88	143
II. Burgundy prepares for the crusade, 1188–90	150
III. The Third Crusade, 1190–92	162

Chapter 6

The Early Thirteenth Century: Burgundy, France, and Rome, 1193–1223	175
I. Marriages, politics, and papal reprisals, 1193–1200	175
II. The Fourth Crusade: from Cîteaux to Constantinople, 1200–04	183
III. The crown of France, the Cistercians, and the Albigensian Crusade, 1203–09	190
IV. Aftermath: nation building and crusading memory	201

Conclusion

207

Appendix

213

Bibliography

223

Index

257