

Igor Davidzon

Patterns of Conventional Warfighting under the Nuclear Umbrella

palgrave
macmillan

CONTENTS

1	Introduction	1
2	Nuclear Weaponization and Warfighting Patterns—Theoretical Discussion	11
3	Three Models of Nuclear Weaponization Influence and Their Origins	33
4	The Relative Power and Its Perception	47
5	Nuclear Development Programs: Historical Insight	95
6	The Nuclear Weaponization and the Patterns of Conventional Warfighting	115
7	Summary and Conclusions	151
	Index	163

LIST OF FIGURES

Fig. 4.1	Pakistani military (thousands) (Source World Military Expenditures and Arms Transfers, http://www.state.gov/t/avc/rls/rpt/wmeat . Accessed 28 August 2019)	52
Fig. 4.2	Pakistan's military expenditure, billions (USD) (Source World Bank Data, https://data.worldbank.org/indicator/MS.MIL.XPND.CD . Accessed 26 November 2019)	53
Fig. 4.3	Indian military (thousands) (Source World Military Expenditures and Arms Transfers, http://www.state.gov/t/avc/rls/rpt/wmeat . Accessed 29 August 2019)	67
Fig. 4.4	India's military expenditure, billions (USD) (Source World Bank Data, https://data.worldbank.org/indicator/MS.MIL.XPND.CD . Accessed 26 November 2019)	69
Fig. 4.5	Israeli military (thousands) (Source World Military Expenditures and Arms Transfers, http://www.state.gov/t/avc/rls/rpt/wmeat . Accessed 29 August 2019)	79
Fig. 4.6	Israel's military expenditure, billions (USD) (Source World Bank Data, https://data.worldbank.org/indicator/MS.MIL.XPND.CD . Accessed 26 November 2019)	80