

CONTENTS

- 1 Introduction 1
Audrey McNamara and Nelson O’Ceallaigh Ritschel
- 2 Speech at the First International Shaw Conference, Dublin 11
President of Ireland Michael D. Higgins
- 3 “The Rush of Air, the Windows Opened on Extravagance and Storm of Idea ...”: Kate O’Brien’s The Last of Summer and Bernard Shaw’s *Man and Superman 19
Anthony Roche
- 4 Shavian Echoes in the Work of Elizabeth Bowen 51
David Clare
- 5 “An Incurable Propensity for Preaching”: Shaw and
His Clergy 69
Elizabeth Mannion
- 6 Bernard Shaw and Sean O’Casey: Remembering James
Connolly 85
Nelson O’Ceallaigh Ritschel

7	The Economics of Identity: John Bull's Other Island and the Creation of Modern Ireland Aileen R. Ruane	119
8	O'Flaherty V.C.: Satire as Shavian Agenda Susanne Colleary	145
9	Shaw, Women and the Dramatising of Modern Ireland Audrey McNamara	161
10	WWI, Common Sense, and O'Flaherty V.C.: Shaw Advocates a New Modernist Outlook for Ireland Aisling Smith	181
11	Bernard Shaw in Two Great Irish Houses: Kilteragh and Coole Peter Gahan	205
12	Shaw's Ireland (and the Irish Shaw) in the International Press (1914–1925) Gustavo A. Rodríguez Martín	237
	Index	261