

Contents

Part I Mirages of Metaphysical Language

- | | | |
|---|---|----|
| 1 | Wittgenstein on 'Grammatical' and 'Metaphysical' Propositions | 5 |
| 2 | The Question of Linguistic Idealism | 19 |
| 3 | Wittgenstein and What We Can Say | 31 |
| 4 | Language and Communication in Kant's Theoretical Philosophy | 41 |
| 5 | Transcendental Illusion in the First Antinomial Conflict | 53 |
| 6 | Kant's Transcendental Idealism | 69 |

Part II Kant's Argument Against Problematic Idealism

- | | | |
|---|--|-----|
| 7 | The Position of Problematic Idealism | 91 |
| 8 | Scepticism and Idealism in Descartes | 99 |
| 9 | Transcendental Proofs and Indubitability | 111 |

10	The Subject in the Refutation of Idealism	121
11	Transcendental Realism and the Fourth A-Paralogism	141
Part III Wittgenstein: Idealism, Solipsism, and Scepticism
12	Solipsism in The Blue Book	159
13	Use as Subject and Use as Object of 'I' Revisited	175
14	Idealism/Solipsism in the Investigations	193
15	On Certainty and Metaphysical Doubt	209
Part IV Limits of Transcendentalism
16	Kant's Second Analogy and the Schema of Causality	233
17	'Perception' in §26 of the Transcendental Deduction	257
18	Wittgenstein on Private Ostensive Definition	275
19	A Prussian Wittgenstein and a Viennese Kant?	297
Bibliography		319
Index		335