

CONTENTS

List of tables and figures	xii
List of contributors	xiv
Introduction: The new terrain of mediated politics James Morrison, Jen Birks and Mike Berry	1
PART I
From 'truth' to 'post-truth' eras? The history of political journalism	15
1 The origins and development of political journalism in Britain Brian Cathcart	17
2 Partial news: Election editorializing in inter-war Britain Dominic Wring and David Deacon	26
3 Reinventing political reporting: Outsiders, disruptors and innovators Erik Neveu	42
4 Political news and the 'celebrity frame' John Corner	52
5 Evolving journalism norms: Objective, interpretive and fact-checking journalism Jen Birks	62

PART II

Political journalism and media systems: Political economy and journalistic professionalism 73

- 6 The Scottish independence referendum, political journalism and the news media landscape 75
Marina Dekavalla
- 7 Local political journalism: Systematic pressures on the normative functions of local news 84
Julie Firmstone and Rebecca Whittington
- 8 Political journalism in a hybrid media landscape: A Scandinavian policy perspective 94
Sigurd Allern
- 9 Hungary's clientelistic media system 103
Péter Bajomi-Lázár
- 10 Political journalism in the Russian media system: Journalistic professionalization in the context of digital media 111
Elena Vartanova
- 11 Internet-led political journalism: Challenging hybrid regime resilience in Malaysia 121
Niki Cheong
- 12 Journalism in Myanmar: Freedom, Facebook and fake news 131
Tina Burrett

PART III

Pluralism, partisanship and populism in political journalism 143

- 13 The new populisms: A key dynamic of mediated politics 145
Michael Higgins
- 14 The renewed visibility of populism: Are social media the culprit? 154
Delia Dumitrica
- 15 Strategies of alternative right-wing media: The case of Breitbart News 164
Jason Roberts and Karin Wahl-Jorgensen

16	Putin, partisanship and the press: Comparing Russian media reporting of Alexander Litvinenko and Sergei Skripal Tina Burrett	174
17	Political journalism by other means: An African perspective Herman Wasserman	185
18	What kind of Italy? The cultural battle waged by a European populist leader against Brussels Paul Rowinski	195
19	Populist candidates in the age of social media: Media portrayals of Jair Bolsonaro's presidential bid in Brazil Heloisa Sturm Wilkerson	206
PART IV
	Public engagement in political journalism: Audience reception, interaction and participation	219
20	'How can you stand there and say you didn't overspend and end up bankrupting this country?': Power, propaganda and public understanding of the economy Mike Berry	221
21	The resiliency of partisan selective exposure Jacob L. Nelson	234
22	Digital media and the proliferation of public opinion cues online: Biases and vulnerabilities in the new attention economy Andrew R.N. Ross, Andrew Chadwick, and Cristian Vaccari	241
23	Gatewatching and news curation Axel Bruns	252
24	Walking the line: Political journalism and social media publics Marcel Broersma	262
25	'Viral journalism', is it a thing? Adapting quality reporting to shifting social media algorithms and wavering audiences Anastasia Denisova	271

- 26 Reporting on white supremacy: Challenges of amplification, legitimization and mainstreaming for political journalism 279
Tina Askanins and Sophie Bjork-James

PART V

Political agenda-setting, media effects and voting behaviour 291

- 27 Protecting the citizen: Political journalists as gatekeepers in the digital age 293
Darren G. Lilleker and Shelley Thompson

- 28 Media effects on perceptions of societal problems: Belief formation in fragmented media environments 302
Adam Shehata

- 29 Agenda-setting theory in a networked world 312
Jason A. Martin

- 30 Influencing the public agenda in the social media era: Questioning the role of mainstream political journalism from the digital landscape 322
Andreu Casero-Ripollés

- 31 The delegitimizing potential of Internet memes in political communication: A case study of the 2020 US election 330
Andrew S. Ross

- 32 Telling tales: Gender and political journalism 343
Emily Harner

- 33 The role of audiences in television leaders' debates and political journalism 352
Richard Danbury

PART VI

Political controversies: Single issue politics, grassroots advocacy and campaigning in the news 361

- 34 Journalistic work in cultures of protest: A transnational review 363
Daniel H. Mutibwa

- 35 Who's punching who? Examining advocacy reporting and commercial restraints in TV satire programming 373
Allaina Kilby

Contents

36	Pluralist public sphere or elitist closed circle? Elite-driven agendas and contributor 'chemistry' as determinants of pundit choice on a flagship BBC politics show James Morrison	383
37	The importance of space in photojournalists' accounts of the anti-austerity protests in Greece Anastasia Veneti, Paul Reilly, and Darren G. Lilleker	394
38	Scotland and period poverty: A case study of activists' media and political agenda-setting Fiona McKay	404
39	Continental drift: Historical perspectives on the framing of 'Europe' in the British Press Simon Guyon Roberts	414
40	8M and the Huelga General Feminista, 2019–2020: Feminist engagement with state, capital and Spain's 'clase política' Stuart Price	425
	Index	438