

Contents

List of Figures	vii
List of Tables	viii
Notes on Contributors	ix
Introduction: 'I Already Have a Voice': The Representation and Self-Representation of Homelessness OWEN CLAYTON	1
1 The Neuroscience Underlying Dehumanised Perception Towards People Who Are Homeless NUOYA TAN AND LASANA T. HARRIS	24
2 Representing Homelessness in British Newspapers: A Contemporary Consideration JULIET FOSTER	44
3 The Power of One: The Media and Homeless Stereotypes PAUL ATHERTON	60
4 Framing Communication for Social Change: The Campaign to Repeal the Vagrancy Act 1824 NICK MORRIS	79
5 Ending Homelessness for Good: A Manifesto LÍGIA TEIXEIRA	101
6 Hidden in Plain Sight: Power, Dehumanisation and (Mis)Representation in Homelessness JESS TURTLE AND MATT TURTLE	113
7 Leaving Out and Living Rough: On the Materiality of Absence in Literary Representations of the Homeless Experience TYMON ADAMCZEWSKI	138
8 My Experiences of Homelessness EMMA FORSHAW	150

9	Autonomy, Public Space and Emplacement: An Examination of Graffiti on Los Angeles's Skid Row SUSAN A. PHILLIPS	159
10	'Who Said I Was a Bum?' Self-Presentation in the " Hobo " News, 1915–1924 OWEN CLAYTON	172
11	Framing the Crime: Anthony Luvera in Conversation with Julian Stallabross ANTHONY LUVERA AND JULIAN STALLABRASS	197
	Conclusion OWEN CLAYTON	214
	Index	219