

Contents

Foreword	ix
Preface	xi
Part I Games of Chance	I
1 Dice and Probability	3
2 Waiting for a Double 6	9
3 Tips on Playing the Lottery: More Equal than Equal?	13
4 A Fair Division: But How?	23
5 The Red and the Black: The Law of Large Numbers	27
6 Asymmetric Dice: Are They Worth Anything?	33
7 Probability and Geometry	37
8 Chance and Mathematical Certainty: Are They Reconcilable?	41
9 In Quest of the Equiprobable	51
10 Winning the Game: Probability and Value	57
II Which Die Is Best?	67
12 A Die Is Tested	71
13 The Normal Distribution: A Race to the Finish!	77
14 And Not Only at Roulette: The Poisson Distribution	89

15 When Formulas Become Too Complex: The Monte Carlo Method	93
16 Markov Chains and the Game Monopoly	105
17 Blackjack: A Las Vegas Fairy Tale	121
Part II Combinatorial Games	143
18 Which Move Is Best?	145
19 Chances of Winning and Symmetry	157
20 A Game for Three	171
21 Nim: The Easy Winner!	177
22 Lasker Nim: Winning along a Secret Path	183
23 Black-and-White Nim: To Each His (or Her) Own	193
24 A Game with Dominoes: Have We Run Out of Space Yet?	209
25 Go: A Classical Game with a Modern Theory	225
26 Misère Games: Loser Wins!	253
27 The Computer as Game Partner	267
28 Can Winning Prospects Always Be Determined?	293
29 Games and Complexity: When Calculations Take Too Long	307
30 A Good Memory and Luck: And Nothing Else?	323
31 Backgammon: To Double or Not to Double?	331
32 Mastermind: Playing It Safe	347
Part III Strategic Games	355
33 Rock–Paper–Scissors: The Enemy’s Unknown Plan	357

34 Minimax versus Psychology: Even in Poker?	367
35 Bluffing in Poker: Can It Be Done without Psychology?	375
36 Symmetric Games: Disadvantages Are Avoidable, but How?	381
37 Minimax and Linear Optimization: As Simple as Can Be	397
38 Play It Again, Sam: Does Experience Make Us Wiser?	405
39 Le Her: Should I Exchange?	413
40 Deciding at Random: But How?	421
41 Optimal Play: Planning Efficiently	431
42 Baccarat: Draw from a Five?	447
43 Three-Person Poker: Is It a Matter of Trust?	451
44 QUAACK! Child's Play?	465
45 Mastermind: Color Codes and Minimax	475
46 A Car, Two Goats—and a Quizmaster	481
 Part IV Epilogue: Chance, Skill, and Symmetry	 495
47 A Player's Influence and Its Limits	497
48 Games of Chance and Games of Skill	501
49 In Quest of a Measure	515
50 Measuring the Proportion of Skill	523
51 Poker: The Hotly Debated Issue	533
 Index	 543