

Contents

List of Illustrations	vii
List of Contributors	ix
Foreword	xi
Janice Carruthers
Acknowledgements	xii
Introduction: Multilingualism in public spaces: Empowering and transforming communities	1
Robert Blackwood and Deirdre A. Dunlevy
1 Multilingual inequality in public spaces: Towards an inclusive model of Linguistic Landscapes	13
Durk Gorter
2 Demarcating the space for multilingualism: On the workings of ethnic interests in a 'civic nation'	31
Marián Sloboda
3 Empowering multilingualism? Provisions for place names in Northern Ireland and the political and legislative context	59
Micheál B. Ó Mainnín
4 The transformative power of linguistic mobility: Evidence from Italian borderscapes	89
Stefania Tufi
5 Invisible presence? Polish in Norwegian public spaces	111
Toril Opsahl
6 Place names and the complexity of language recognition in Northern Ireland	137
Deirdre A. Dunlevy
7 Postcolonial re-memorization in the public space: A Patrice Lumumba Square in Brussels	159
Luk Van Mensel
8 Linguistic Landscape activism as a means of community empowerment: Direct action, Ai'Ta and Breton in France	177
Robert Blackwood

9	Multilingualism in the model multicultural city: The influence of authors in Leicester's Golden Mile	195
	Michelle A. Harrison
10	Empowering dialect speakers in formal education: The case of the Greek Cypriot dialect in preschool education in Cyprus	223
	Andry Sophocleous
	Conclusion: Multilingualism in public spaces: Empowering and transforming communities	241
	Robert Blackwood and Deirdre A. Dunlevy
	Index	249