

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
1. Introduction: Travel and Self-fashioning in the Age of Empire	1
2. Colonial Subjects and Their Dislocated Aesthetics	12
3. The Occidental Exotic	68
4. Vernacular Cosmopolitanism in the Age of Empire	119
5. The Globalectic Imagination and Connected Histories	168
6. Conclusion: The Antinomies of Travel in the Age of Empire	213
Bibliography	219
Index	233
About the Author	245