

Contents

Preface	x
List of illustrations	xi
List of contributors	xiii
Acknowledgments	xviii
Introduction: Human rights in the Americas	1
LUZ ANGÉLICA KIRSCHNER, MARÍA HERRERA-SOBEK, AND FRANCISCO A. LOMELÍ
PART I
Early origins of human rights	29
1 Human rights in the Americas: A stony path	31
JOSEF RAAB
2 Constructing rights and empires in the early Americas: The parallel reception histories of Carlos de Sigüenza y Góngora and Cotton Mather	45
PHILIPP REISNER
3 Maps of violence, maps of resistance, or, where is home in the Americas?	61
ROLAND WALTER
PART II
Human rights in Central America and the Caribbean	79
4 Human rights situation in Central America through the lens of literary representations of violence	81
XAVER DANIEL HERGENRÖTHER

5	Rebellion, repression, reform: U.S. Marines in the Dominican Republic	95
	BREANNE ROBERTSON
PART III
	Human rights and gender	115
6	Black women writers in the Americas: The struggle for human rights in the context of coloniality	117
	ISABEL CALDEIRA
7	Autobiography, fiction, and racial hatred representation in Jamaica Kincaid's See Now Then	132
	GONÇALO CHOLANT
8	The rebirth of the myth of the American hero and feminism	144
	RITA SANTOS
PART IV
	Human Rights: Mexican Indigenous groups and Mexican Americans groups	161
9	Dancing resistance, controlling singing and rights to name heritage: Mexican Indigenous autonomy, P'urhépecha practices, and United Nations	163
	RUTH HELLIER-TINOCO
10	Carey McWilliams' activism and the democratic human rights tradition	181
	MARÍA JOSÉ CANELO
11	The ontogenesis of fear in Héctor Tobar's The Barbarian Nurseries	196
	ALEXANDER ULLMAN
PART V
	Human rights: Afro-Brazilians and Afro-Latinas/os	209
12	Brazilian quilombos: Castainho and its struggle for human rights	211
	WELLINGTON MARINHO DE LIRA

13	Capá Prieto and the decolonial Afro-Latin(a/o) American imagination	223
	LUZ ANGÉLICA KIRSCHNER
14	“We got Latin soul!”: Transbarrio dialogs and Afro-Latin identity formation in New York’s Puerto Rican community during the age of Black Power (1966–1972)	243
	MATTI STEINITZ
PART VI
	Human right, animals rights, and posthuman rights	263
15	From racism to speciesism: The question of freedom of the other in the works of J. M. Coetzee and Jure Detela	265
	MARJETKA GOLEŽ KAUČIČ
16	To be or not to be human: The plasticity of posthuman rights	283
	NICOLE SPARLING BARCO
	Index	295