

Contents

Preface	vii
1 The Importance of Being Marxist Zygmunt Bauman	1
2 Sociology? Kurt H. Wolff	10
3 Sociology, Social Criticism and Marxism Roy Edgley	17
4 How did Mankind Acquire its Essence? or The Palaeolithic October Ernest Gellner	31
5 Customs, Tradition, Legality: a Key Problem in the Dialectic of Base and Superstructure István Mészáros	53
6 Three Socialisms: Statism, Collectivism, Associationism Stephen Yeo	83
7 Late Capitalism, Corporatism and Other -isms Ronald P. Dore	114
8 Societies, Sociology and the International Christopher Thorne	124
9 Retrieving Pluralism Paul Q. Hirst	154
10 Class Struggle from Above Ralph Miliband	175

11	Social Classes, Social Movements or Social Tension? Peter Lloyd	185
12	Incorporation versus Power Models of Working-Class Radicalism Robert J. Brym	204
13	The Rise and Fall of the French Labour Movement Alain Touraine	230
14	Humour and Social Structure Michael Mulkey	243
	Select Bibliography of the Writings of Tom Bottomore	264
	List of Contributors	265
	Index	268