

Contents

Illustrations	page	vi
Acknowledgements		vii
1 Introduction		1
Versions – Perspectives – Symbolism – Symbolic boundaries and the community – The ideas behind the words – Programme
2 Lives from a scene: sketches of Whalsay T., and the Earl's last voyage – A Whalsay event: the anglers' annual general meeting – Magnie, and the battle of the water main – The football club dance – A trip to the front		22
3 Making some sense of it all		58
Parts and wholes, forms and meanings – The public allocation of identity – Kinship, and 'people we know' – Wir folk, yon folk – Sprees and funerals – 'Being Whalsa' – Da sooth – Symbolism and identity
4 Managing change: the past in the present		98
The croft – Peat – Da cela – Speakin' Whalsa' – The 'aald days', and the past that never was
5 Whalsay, and the ways of the world		142
Fishing, fer bugger-all – Henry, and the eternal campaign – Fishing, militancy and local identity – A public meeting – 'Da folk we ken't is aa' gone frae wis'
6 Final glimpses . . .		184
'I'm jus' a simple fellow' – A football match – 'Dere's never been a fiddle soounded in dis hoose fer fifty years' – 'I laached fer da waater cam' ta me ee'n' – Ertie's night out – Two styles of command – Whalsay triumphant
7 . . . and last thoughts: making sense of Whalsay		203
Fieldwork and the exhausted self – Symbol, segment, boundary – Segmentation in modern societies
Appendixes
A. Documents of the late R. W. J. Irvine of the Linthouse		217
B. Some Whalsay meys		221
References		224
Index		232