

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Preface	ix
Part I. The Evolution of World History
1. Defining World History	3
2. Historical Philosophy to 1900	17
3. Grand Synthesis, 1900–1965	37
4. Themes and Analyses, 1965–1990	55
5. Organizing a Field since 1990	79
6. Narrating World History	107
Part II. Revolution in Historical Studies
7. Disciplines	121
8. Area Studies	145
9. Global Studies	163
Part III. Results of Recent Research
10. Political and Economic History	183
11. Social History	201
12. Ecology, Technology, and Health	215
13. Cultural History	229
14. Debating World History	255
Part IV. Logic of Analysis in World History
15. Scale in History: Time and Space	265
16. Modeling Frameworks and Strategies	275
17. Verifying and Presenting Interpretations	297
18. Analyzing World History	313
Part V. Study and Research in World History
19. Programs and Priorities in Graduate Education	327
20. Courses of Study	343
21. Resources for Graduate Study	353
22. Researching World History	361
23. Conclusion: Tasks in World History	371
Bibliography	379
Index	415