

CONTENTS

List of Tables	xi
List of Figures	xvii
Foreword, Calvin Goldscheider	xix
Preface	xxv
1 Labor Allocation, Migration, and Development	1
Introduction	1
Development and Labor Force Transformations	4
Development and Migration	7
Linkages between Migration and Labor Allocation ...	9
Conclusion	10
2 Strategies of Labor Allocation	11
Household and Community Influences on Production .	12
Agrarian Change and Household Production	18
Demographic Aspects of Labor Allocation	28
Social Class and Labor Allocation	30
Overview	32

3	Labor Allocation and Rural Development in Java	37
	Background	37
	Population Growth on Java	40
	Recent Trends in the Javanese Economy	45
	The Study Site	56
4	Sample Design and Characteristics	71
	Selection of Villages	72
	Household Sampling	74
	Interviewing	78
	Definition of Major Terms	79
	Sample Characteristics	82
	Conclusion	104
5	Household Labor Supply and Access to Employment	105
	Demographic Aspects of Labor Allocation	105
	Sectoral Allocation of Labor	112
	Production Aspects of Labor Allocation	119
	Sectoral Participation	127
	Conclusion	135
6	Migration --A Demographic and Production Response	137
	Characteristics of Migrants	137
	Labor Allocated through Migration	141
	Simultaneous Strategies of Labor Allocation	156
	Conclusion	177
7	Research Findings and Implications	179
	Overview of the Research	179
	Summary of Findings	180
	Development and Policy Implications	188
	Directions for Future Research	192
	Appendix A	195
	Evaluation of Occupational Data	195

Appendix B	201
A Summary Measure of Resource Access	201
Bibliography	205
Index	223