

Contents

Preface

1. Introductory Notes .....	1
1.1. The Aim of the Work .....	1
1.2. Text .....	4
1.3. Communication .....	5
1.4. Memory .....	8
1.5. Expectation .....	10
1.6. Sign .....	12
1.7. Text and Communication .....	13
1.8. Interpretation .....	15
1.9. The Equivalence of Text and Memory .....	16
2. The Corpus of Texts .....	17
3. Text References .....	19
3.1. Units Observed .....	20
3.2. Text References .....	22
3.3. The Number of References in a Text .....	23
3.4. Additivity of $z$ .....	36

3.5. Structural Ambiguity of Formula (3.4) .....	39
3.6. Syntactic Variable $S$ .....	42
3.7. Two Hypotheses Concerning $S$ .....	44
3.8. A Paradox Resulting from (3.4) and (3.18) .....	49
3.9. A Concluding Note .....	49
4. Vehicle and Sign Aggregations .....	50
4.1. The Concept of Aggregation .....	51
4.2. Menzerath-Altmann's Law .....	52
4.3. Menzerath-Altmann's Law as a Criterion for Distinguishing Language Levels .....	53
4.4. Verification .....	54
4.5. Sign Aggregations .....	67
4.6. The Supra-Sentence Level .....	77
4.7. The Constants of Menzerath-Altmann's Law and Their Estimation .....	77
4.8. Text as a Self-Similar Structure .....	91
4.9. An Estimate of the Constant $A$ .....	95
5. An Attempt at an Explanation of Menzerath-Altmann's Law .....	97
5.1. The Basic Modelling Idea .....	97
5.2. The Distribution of $n_i$ .....	99
5.3. The Mutual Independence of $f_j$ and $n_i$ .....	103
5.4. The Position of Menzerath-Altmann's Law .....	106

6. Concluding Notes .....	108
SUPPLEMENTS .....	110
Suppl. 1: The Corpus of Texts .....	110
Suppl. 2: The Analysis of References in an Example from Text RE .....	111
Suppl. 3: The Examples of Rules for Text References in Turkish Texts .....	112
REFERENCES .....	113