
Contents

Preface	page xi
Abbreviations	xiii
Introduction	1
1 The true religion of nature: the freethinkers and their opponents	7
1 Freethinking, deism, and atheism	7
2 Irony, equivocation, and esotericism	31
3 Superstition, religion, and philosophy	50
2 Shaftesbury and the defence of natural affection	85
1 Shaftesbury's intellectual world	86
2 The making of Characteristicks	98
3 The good and the beautiful	114
3 Defining the moral faculty: Hutcheson, Butler, and Price	153
1 Shaftesbury's heirs	154
2 The diffusion of Shaftesburian thought	173
3 The foundation of morals	199
4 The ethics of sentiment and the religious hypothesis: Hume and his critics	238
1 The problem of the virtuous sceptic	238
2 Prudence and raillery	264
3 The science of human nature	282
5 The conflict of languages in the later eighteenth century	330
Bibliography	357
Index	377