

6	FOREWORD
8	A WORD OF GREETING
10	INTERVIEW WITH JOHANN MARIA FARINA
14	THE START OF A NEW AGE OF PERFUME 1709–1794
15	The World of Perfumes
16	The Origins of Giovanni Maria Farina (1685–1766)
19	Giovanni Maria's Apprenticeship
21	"Mercante e Profumiere"
23	The Founding of the Company on 13 July 1709
24	Trading Around the World
26	Giovanni Maria Farina in Paris
28	The Fragrant Fields of Grasse
30	French Goods
32	Difficult Circumstances in the Eighteenth Century
34	Farina's Sphere Is Europe
35	Known Throughout Europe
37	Farina Transcends Borders
38	Fine Society
41	The Farina House
42	The Typical Rosoli Flacon
43	Bergamot – the New Scent
44	Citrus Fruit: a Status Symbol
46	The Beginning of the Modern Perfume Industry
48	Fine Ingredients for a Special Perfume
50	The Most Critical Customer Was Farina Himself
51	Cologne under the Ancien Régime
52	For the Record
54	Success in Turbulent Times
55	The Second Generation in the Company
56	Symbols of the Lodge
58	COLOGNE UNDER FRENCH RULE 1794–1814
59	A Woman Takes Over
60	Napoleon Only Loved Eau de Cologne
64	The Bonaparte Family
66	Liberty Decreed from France
67	Farina and the Congress of Vienna
69	The Prussians: Not Keen on Cologne
70	ESTABLISHING GLOBAL MARKETS 1814–1918
71	The Emergence of Trademark Copyright in Europe
74	Original or Fake?
78	Global Success
80	Britain Becomes the Leading Market
81	Expressive Design

84	The Completion of Cologne Cathedral
86	Farina and Art in Cologne
87	The Perfume of Royalty
92	Farina Supplies All Imperial and Royal Courts
93	From the Fifth to the Sixth Generation
94	Belle Époque
96	Avant-Garde Artists Mark the New Farina Style
97	Dramatic War Years
98	TURBULENT TIMES 1918–1945
99	The Golden Twenties
102	The Transformation of Perfumery
103	The Red Tulip
106	Russian Leather
107	A New Generation
108	The Paris Expo of 1937
109	Farina in Ruins
110	REBUILDING 1945–1959
111	A New Start
112	Prince Carnival
114	A Mood of Renewal in the Fifties
118	FARINA'S NEW LOOK 1960–1993
119	A Blaze of Colour
120	New Design
122	How Perfumes Affect Us
124	Tina Farina's Typology of Perfume
130	THE RENAISSANCE OF EAU DE COLOGNE 1993–2021
131	Back to the Beginnings
134	Farina in Literature
135	The Land of Ideas
136	Red Packaging
138	The Perfume Museum in the Farina House
140	300 Years of Farina
143	A Symbol of the Future
144	Grasse, the Cradle of Perfumery
146	Eau de Cologne – 310 Years of Success
148	Part of the Via Culturalis
154	INTERVIEW WITH LOUISE FARINA
156	APPENDIX
156	The Farina Family Companies
157	Sources
160	Picture Credits