

Contents

Contributors	vii
Hubert Dreyfus and Harrison Hall: Introduction	1
1 John Haugeland: Dasein's Disclosedness	27
2 Robert Brandom: Heidegger's Categories in Being and Time	45
3 Joseph P. Fell: The Familiar and the Strange: On the Limits of Praxis in the Early Heidegger	65
4 Theodore R. Schatzki: Early Heidegger on Being, the Clearing, and Realism	81
5 William D. Blattner: Existential Temporality in Being and Time (Why Heidegger is not a Pragmatist)	99
6 Charles Guignon: History and Commitment in the Early Heidegger	130
7 Mark B. Okrent: The Truth of Being and the History of Philosophy	143
8 Michel Haar: Attunement and Thinking	159
9 Hubert Dreyfus: Heidegger's History of the Being of Equipment	173
10 Jürgen Habermas: Work and Weltanschauung: The Heidegger Controversy from a German Perspective	186
11 Richard Rorty: Heidegger, Contingency, and Pragmatism	209
12 Randall E. Havas: Who is Heidegger's Nietzsche? (On the Very Idea of the Present Age)	231
13 Charles Taylor: Heidegger, Language, and Ecology	247
14 Charles Spinosa: Derrida and Heidegger: Interability and Ereignis	270
Index	298