Table of Contents

Prologue 1

Part I: Approaching Paul 15

1. Understanding Paul as a First-Century Jew in the Twenty-First Century: The Problem of Relevance, Bias, and Approach 17
   - 1.1 The Nature of the Text and the Search for a Persuasive Paul . . . 17
   - 1.2 History and Its Usefulness: Paul Within and Beyond Christianity 24
   - 1.3 Paul Within Judaism: The Issue of Collective Bias 33
   - 1.4 Excavating Paul: Beyond the Parting of the Ways Paradigm . . . 40

2. Particularistic Judaism and Universalistic Christianity? Critical Remarks on Terminology and Theology 59
   - 2.1 Terminology and Theological Pitfalls 59
   - 2.2 The Terms "Universalism" and "Particularism" in Current Usage 61
   - 2.3 More Precise Terminology: A Suggestion 67
   - 2.4 The New Terminology in Use 72
   - 2.5 Beyond the Universal and the Particular 82

3. Was there a Christian Mission Before the Fourth Century CE? Problematizing Common Ideas About Early Christianity 85
   - 3.1 Jewish Mission Then and Now 85
   - 3.2 Mapping the Area – Initial Steps 86
   - 3.3 Changing the Facts on the Ground: The Creation of "Religion" (and "Christianity") 88
   - 3.4 Pre-Christian Mission Beyond "Religion" 91
     - 3.4.1 Defining "Mission" 91
     - 3.4.2 Outlining Parameters and a Mode of Procedure 93
   - 3.5 The Private Sphere: The Role of the House in Spreading a Cult. 94
   - 3.6 The Dynamic Space In-Between: Associations and Mysteries . . 99
   - 3.7 Claiming the World: Colonialism as Theo-Political Pattern for Proselytizing Mission 108
     - 3.7.1 Conquest and Mission 109

Bibliografische Informationen
https://d-nb.info/1268946400

digitalisiert durch DEUTSCHE NATIONAL BIBLIOTHEK

3.7.2 Restoration and Counter-Colonialism: The Margins Strike Back 111
3.8 From Jerusalem to Rome – A One Way Ticket? 115

4. Entering the Conversation on Paul: Was he a Christian and did he Attend Church? 119
4.1 Terminology as Translation 119
4.2 Translating History: Colonizing the Past or Liberating the Dead? 120
4.3 Changing the Architecture of the Conversation 122
4.4 "Christians"/"Christianity" 123
4.5 "Church" 130
4.6 On Carrying One's Own Hermeneutical Burden 135

Part II: Reading Paul 137

5. Entering a Synagogue with Paul: First-Century Torah Observance . 139
5.1 Who is a Jew? 139
5.2 Defining Torah Observance Beyond Rabbinic Institutions . . . 142
5.2.1 Open to All: Torah in Jewish Civic Institutions 143
5.2.2 Members Only: Torah in Jewish Associations 147
5.3 Paul and the Diversity of Pre-Rabbinic Judaism 151

6. Paul's World: Women, Men, and Power 155
6.1 Paul and his Female Apostles 155
6.2 Women in Ancient Society: How do we Ask the Question? . . . 159
6.3 The Public Sphere: Politics, the Right to Vote, and Civic Administration 161
6.4 The Private Sphere: Women Inside and Outside the House . . . 163
6.5 Associations: Men and Women as Leaders and Members 165
6.6 Junia: Exception or Rule? 169
6.7 Women in Christ-Groups Before Christianity 172

7. Placing Paul: Understanding Theological Strategy in Institutional Context 175
7.1 Approaching the Question: Introducing Institution Criticism 175
7.2 Judaism and "the Synagogue" 179
7.3 Jesus, Kingdom, Synagogue 181
7.4 Christ as Association in Paul's Three-Dimensional Theology . 185
7.5 Jesus and Israel, Paul and Empire 192

8. Paul's Rule in all the Ekklēsiai: Finding a Core in his Message 195
8.1 Is there a Core in Pauline Thought? 195

8.2 Structure and Meaning 196
8.3 Theology and Socio-Ritual Behavior 197
8.3.1 Circumcision 198
8.3.2 Slavery 201
8.4 Theology and Ecclesial Context 202
8.5 The Spirit and the Universal Fulfillment of Jewish Law 204

9. Paul and the Joining of the Ways 207
9.1 From Parting to Joining 207
9.2 Universalism Through Particularism? 211
9.2.1 Gentile Inclusion: Ethnicity 213
9.2.2 Gentile Inclusion: Salvation 216
9.2.3 Gentile Inclusion: Mission 219
9.3 From Joining to Parting 222

Part III: After Paul 227

10. Jewish and Christian Interaction from the First to the Fifth Century CE 229
10.1 Studying Jewish and Christian Interaction: Problems and Procedure 229
10.2 Interaction in Public Civic Settings: Local, National, Imperial 234
10.3 Interaction Within and Between Associations 242
10.4 Interaction in Private/Domestic Settings 249
10.5 Problematizing the so-called Parting of the Ways between Judaism and Christianity 255

11. Inventing Christian Identity: From Paul To Theodosius I 259
11.1 A Simple Question to be Approached with Great Care 259
11.2 "Don't Trust the Horse!" Terminology, Categories, and the Battle for Historical Precision 261
11.3 Re-thinking the Question 274
11.4 The How, When, and Why of Christian Identity: Some Tentative Suggestions 279
11.5 What has Not been Said, and What has 287

12. The Rise of Normative Judaism and Christianity 293
12.1 From Restoring a Kingdom to Destroying a Nation 293
12.2 Bringing Normativity into Being: The Language of Oughtness 295
12.3 Synagogues, Churches, and Empire 297
12.4 Christian Colonialism and Jewish Resistance 301
12.5 Theological Violence and its Real-World Counterpart 305

Part IV: Theologizing Paul 309

13. Reforming the Reformer: Reading Paul with Luther in Contemporary Europe and Beyond 311
13.1 Theology: A Matter of Life and Death 311
13.2 Jewish Identity within the ekklēsia 318
13.3 The Salvation of the Jewish 'Other': The Victory of God's Love 323
13.4 The Theological Imperative: Choose Life 326

Epilogue 329

List of Original Publications 339

List of Illustrations 341

Bibliography 343

Ancient Texts Index 373

Modern Authors Index. 383

Subject Index 391