

Contents

List of Figures	ix
List of Tables	x
List of Charts	xi
Acknowledgments	xii
A Time of Change	1
1 The Crisis of Industrial Statism and the Collapse of the Soviet Union	4
The Extensive Model of Economic Growth and the Limits of Hyperindustrialism	9
The Technology Question	26
The Abduction of Identity and the Crisis of Soviet Federalism	37
The Last Perestroika	47
Nationalism, Democracy, and the Disintegration of the Soviet State	56
The Scars of History, the Lessons for Theory, the Legacy for Society	62

2	The Rise of the Fourth World: Informational Capitalism, Poverty, and Social Exclusion	70
	Toward a Polarized World? A Global Overview	75
	The De-humanization of Africa	82
	Marginalization and selective integration of Sub-Saharan Africa in the informational/global economy	83
	Africa's technological apartheid at the dawn of the Information Age	92
	The predatory state	96
	Zaire: the personal appropriation of the state	99
	Nigeria: oil, ethnicity, and military predation	101
	Ethnic identity, economic globalization, and state formation in Africa	105
	Africa's plight	115
	Africa's hope? The South African connection	122
	Out of Africa or back to Africa? The politics and economics of self-reliance	127
	The New American Dilemma: Inequality, Urban Poverty, and Social Exclusion in the Information Age	128
	Dual America	130
	The inner-city ghetto as a system of social exclusion	137
	When the underclass goes to hell	145
	Globalization, Over-exploitation, and Social Exclusion: the View from the Children	149
	The sexual exploitation of children	154
	The killing of children: war massacres and child soldiers	157
	Why children are wasted	159
	Conclusion: the Black Holes of Informational Capitalism	161
3	The Perverse Connection: the Global Criminal Economy	166
	Organizational Globalization of Crime, Cultural Identification of Criminals	168
	The Pillage of Russia	180
	The structural perspective	184
	Identifying the actors	185
	Mechanisms of accumulation	188
	Narcotrafico , Development, and Dependency in Latin America	190

What are the economic consequences of the drugs industry for Latin America?	194
Why Colombia?	196
The Impact of Global Crime on Economy, Politics, and Culture	201
4 Toward the Pacific Era? The Multicultural Foundation of Economic Interdependence	206
Is There an Asian Pacific Region?	206
Heisei's Japan: Developmental State versus Information Society	216
A social model of the Japanese developmental process	218
Declining sun: the crisis of the Japanese model of development	229
Hatten Hokka and Johoka Shakai : a contradictory relationship	236
Japan and the Pacific	242
Beheading the Dragon? Four Asian Tigers with a Dragon Head, and their Civil Societies	243
Singapore: state nation-building via multinational corporations	246
South Korea: the state production of oligopolistic capitalism	249
Taiwan: flexible capitalism under the guidance of the state	254
Hong Kong model versus Hong Kong reality: small business in a world economy, and the colonial version of the welfare state	258
The breeding of the tigers: commonalities and dissimilarities in their process of economic development	264
The developmental state in East Asian industrialization: on the concept of the developmental state	270
The rise of the developmental state: from the politics of survival to the process of nation-building	272
The state and civil society in the restructuring of East Asia: how the developmental state succeeded in the development process	277
Democracy, identity, and development in East Asia in the 1990s	280

Chinese Developmental Nationalism with Socialist Characteristics	287
The new Chinese revolution	288
Guanxi capitalism? China in the global economy	293
China's regional developmental states and the bureaucratic (capitalist) entrepreneurs	297
Democracy, development, and nationalism in the new China	301
Conclusion: the Pacific as Multicultural Syndrome	308
5 The Unification of Europe: Globalization, Identity, and the Network State	310
European Unification as a Sequence of Defensive Reactions: a Half-century Perspective	312
Globalization and European Integration	318
Cultural Identity and European Unification	326
The Institutionalization of Europe: the Network State	330
European Identity or European Project?	332
Conclusion: Making Sense of our World	335
Genesis of a New World	336
A New Society	340
The New Avenues of Social Change	351
Beyond this Millennium	353
What is to be Done?	358
Finale	359
Summary of Contents of Volumes I and II	361
References	363
Index	394