

CONTENTS

	PAGE
PREFACE	ix
ABBREVIATIONS	x
CHAPTER I: Bertolt Brecht and the Dialectic of Tradition	1
NOTES TO CHAPTER I	14
CHAPTER II: Der Hofmeister : Tragicomedy of the 'deutsche Misere'
Choice of play	15
Changes: omissions and additions	18
Leading motifs: social, economic, sexual	22
The Kant theme and Dialectic	31
The Comic mode	39
NOTES TO CHAPTER II	41
CHAPTER III: Der Biberpelz and Der Rote Hahn : Corruption and imperial grandeur
Brecht's attitude to Naturalism	44
Hauptmann's social conscience	48
Hauptmann and the relativity of values	51
Double morality	54
Changes: structure and text	55
Class consciousness: Rauert	63
Final act: synthesis of themes	66
NOTES TO CHAPTER III	71
CHAPTER IV: Don Juan : The seductive exploiter in the feudal regime
The Don Juan tradition and Molière	75
Molière's background: court culture, 'honnête homme'	76
Brecht's attitude to his material	79
Brecht's conception of Don Juan	82
The master/servant theme	88
Formal characteristics	99
Conclusion	102
NOTES TO CHAPTER IV	105

Contents (continued)	PAGE
CHAPTER V: Pauken und Trompeten: Coercion and colonialism
Brecht's structural changes	108
Farquhar's 'Discourse upon Comedy' and the 'Epistle Dedicatory'	110
Brecht's omissions and divergent assessments	114
Historical background	118
The recruiting theme: Justice Balance, Captain Plume	121
The lower classes: Simpkins, Mike, Der Breitschultrige	129
Final scene tableau	136
NOTES TO CHAPTER V	141
CHAPTER VI: Coriolan: The Colossus diminished
The sources and Brecht's approach	146
Shakespeare's background	151
Political or private theme	154
History: event or reflection	159
Modern consciousness: class struggle	162
'Specialty of rule'	164
Coriolanus: Icarus syndrome; the Royal Occupation; the motif of irreplaceability	165
The Plebeians	172
The Tribunes	178
Reassessment of the 'classical hero'	182
NOTES TO CHAPTER VI	187
CHAPTER VII: Conclusion	191
NOTES TO CHAPTER VII	203
SELECT BIBLIOGRAPHY	204