

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Introduction	1
1 Men and Masculinity: The Response to Social Change	8
The Feminist Toryism of Ford Madox Ford's Parade's End	10
The Proto-Fascism of Richard Aldington's Death of a Hero	19
Men Alone and Men Together: The Masculinist Project of D. H. Lawrence	29
New Family Values and Anti-Oedipal Fantasy in Warwick Deeping's Sorrell and Son	44
2 Ideals and Realities of the English Woman	55
The Fairy-tale of War: Rebecca West's The Return of the     Soldier	59
The Magic of Independence: Sylvia Townsend Warner's Lolly Willowses	63
A Question of Life and Death: Aesthetics and History in the Novels of Virginia Woolf	66
3 Mass Civilisation and Minority Culture	99
Reaction and Revolution in The Calendar of Modern Letters , The Criterion and The Adelphi	107
Hunting the Highbrow: Q. D. Leavis and the Disintegration of the Reading Public	116
Bloomsbury and the Miners: Ellen Wilkinson's Clash	123
The New World Order: D. H. Lawrence's Kangaroo	129
4 Sex, Satire and the Jazz Age	136
Lesbian Sexology: Radclyffe Hall and The Well of Loneliness	140

English Literature of the 1920s

Inverted World: Wyndham Lewis and The Apes of God	145
Enigmatic Femininity and English Myth: Michael Arlen's The Green Hat	158
Sexual Cynicism and Intellectual Despair: Aldous Huxley	162
Realising Sex: The Utopian Alternative to the Jazz Age in Lady Chatterley's Lover	166
5 England and its Other: Seduction and Friendship, Bodies and Ghosts	189
Seduced by Difference: The Sheik and Desert Love	193
Beyond the Reach of Empire: D. H. Lawrence's The Plumed Serpent	199
The Politics of Friendship in A Passage to India	210
Bibliography	227
Index	243