

CONTENTS

List of figures
List of tables
Contributors
Editor's note
Acknowledgments

Introduction
Beverly Benner Cassara 1

Part One: Dimensions of the problem

- 1 Cultural pluralism, democracy and multicultural education
Young Pai 11
- 2 Multiculturalism in education: the importance of meaning
Charles A. Tesconi Jr 28
- 3 Linguistic minorities and adult education in the United States
C. Ray Graham and Peter S. Cookson 45

Part Two: Past and present concerns of major ethnic groups

- 4 More than the three 'R's': the development of Black adult education in Manhattan
Charlotte T. Morgan 63

Contents

5	Adult education and the American Indian John W. Tippeconnic III	78
6	The education of Hispanic adults: pedagogical strands and cultural meanings Martha Montero-Sieburth	96
7	Asian Pacific Americans and adult education: the social and political resocialization of a diverse immigrant and refugee population Don T. Nakanishi	119
Part Three: Innovative approaches to practice and research
8	Education as a social agent: one university's answer to a multiethnic graduate adult population Philip T.K. Daniel and Vesta A.H. Daniel	147
9	Experiencing the unfamiliar: matrix for learning Thelma Barer-Stein	163
10	The use of a negotiated approach in health care: university-community group interaction Joan S. Reeves	186
11	The dynamics of hosting an international exchange student Kimerly Miller, Cornelius Grove, and Bettina Hansel	196
12	The Hispanic adult learner in a rural community college René Díaz-Lefebvre	211
	Index	232