

CONTENTS

New Introduction	page 1
Introduction	11
CHAPTER ONE: HEGEL AND MARX
I. Hegel and Marx in Opposition	17
1. The Religious Motif in Hegel and the Activistic Atheism of Marx	17
2. Political Accommodation in Hegel and Social Revolution in Marx	19
3. Philosophy as Retrospective Evaluation: Philosophy as Contemporary Social Activity	22
4. Systematic Philosophical Idealism versus Scientific Materialism	28
5. History as the Autobiography of God: History as the Pursuit of Human Ends	36
II. Hegel and Marx in Continuity	41
1. Opposition to Social Atomism	41
2. Rejection of Abstract Ethical Idealism	47
3. The Centrality of the Process in Hegel and Marx	54
4. End in Hegel and Ends in Marx	56
III. The Dialectical Method in Hegel and Marx	60
1. Defects of the Dialectical Method in Hegel	61
2. Dialectic as the Logic of Totality in Marx	62
3. The Dialectic as the Principle of Activity	64
4. Dialectic as the "Algebra of Revolution"	74
5. Dialectic and Nature	75
CHAPTER TWO: THE YOUNG-HEGELIANS AND KARL MARX
I. The Pantheistic Humanism of Strauss	78
1. The "Mythical" Interpretation of Religion	82
2. The Social Absolute and Man-God in Strauss	84

CONTENTS

	page
3. Strauss' Philosophy of History	87
4. Strauss and Marx	88
5. The Revolutionary Theology of Bruno Bauer	89
6. Bauer's Radical Atheism	93
7. The Terrorism of Reason	95
 CHAPTER THREE: BRUNO BAUER AND KARL MARX
	98
I. The Revolutionary Politics of Bruno Bauer	98
1. Bauer's Anti-Liberalism	98
2. Bauer and the Jewish Question	100
3. Bauer and the Social Problem	103
4. The Critical Spirit versus the Masses	106
5. Sentimental Philanthropy as Social Reform	107
6. Bauer's Historical Fatalism	108
II. Marx's Criticism of Bauer	112
1. Bauer's Defective Social Psychology	113
2. Bauer's Creative Idealism	114
3. Solipsism and the Social Problem	117
4. Historical Dynamics and the Masses	119
5. Ideas and Interests	121
6. The Beginnings of Historical Materialism	123
 CHAPTER FOUR: ARNOLD RUGE AND KARL MARX
	126
I. The Philosophy of Arnold Ruge	127
1. Philosophy as Politics	129
2. Literary Romanticism as Political Reaction	132
3. The Anti-Historicism of the Historical School	135
4. Poetry as Politics	144
5. Above-the-Battle Neutralities	147
6. "Partei! Partei! Wer sollte sie nicht nehmen!"	149
II. From Political Liberalism to Social Democracy	152
1. Is Atheism a Religion?	153
2. Tired Liberalism and Social Pessimism	155

CONTENTS

	page
3. The Class State versus the Social State	158
4. The Social Basis of the Class State	160
5. Socialism and Politics	162
 CHAPTER FIVE: MAX STIRNER AND KARL MARX
	165
I. The Philosophy of Max Stirner	165
1. Ideals as Illusions	166
2. Social, All-too-Social	168
3. Immoralism	169
4. The Cult of the Ego	171
II. Marx's Criticism of Stirner	173
1. The Positive Aspects of Stirner's Work	174
2. The Ego as an Abstraction	176
3. Stirner's Subjectivism	177
4. Stirner's Social Nominalism	178
5. Egoistic Anarchism as Self-Defeating	180
6. The Petty-Bourgeois Roots of Anarchism	183
 CHAPTER SIX: MOSES HESS AND KARL MARX
	186
I. The Philosophy of Moses Hess	188
1. The Social Status of the German Intellectual	189
2. Communism as Humanism	193
3. Communism as the Ethics of Love	196
4. "True Socialism" as Reactionary Socialism	200
5. Communism and Nationalism	202
6. Transition to Realism	203
II. Marx's Criticism of "True Socialism"	205
1. Intransigent Theory and Reactionary Practice	206
2. Socialism by Education or Socialism by Struggle	208
3. Nature, All-too-Peaceful Nature	213
4. Was Marx a "True Socialist"?	217

CONTENTS

	page
CHAPTER SEVEN: LUDWIG FEUERBACH AND KARL MARX	220
I. Feuerbach's Method	223
II. Feuerbach's Psychology of Religion	243
III. Feuerbach's Philosophy of Religion	251
IV. Feuerbach's Philosophy of Anthropomorphism	254
1. Man as the Measure of All Things	256
2. Metaphysics as Esoteric Psychology	259
3. The Social Nature of Truth	260
4. Realism or Conventionalism	264
V. Feuerbach's "Degenerate" Sensationalism	267
CHAPTER EIGHT: KARL MARX AND FEUERBACH	272
1. Thesis I. Ideas	273
2. Thesis II. Truth	281
3. Thesis III. Action	286
4. Thesis IV. Religion	291
5. Thesis V. Perception	293
6. Thesis VI and VII. Religion and Society	296
7. Thesis VIII. Intelligibility	298
8. Thesis IX and X. The Old and New Materialisms	299
9. Thesis XI. Philosophy	303
Appendix I. Marx on Kant and Political Liberalism	308
Appendix II. Marx on Hegel's "Concrete Universal"	312
Appendix III. Marx on Bentham and Utilitarianism	315
Translated by Sidney Hook
Index	323