

CONTENTS

Preface vii

Introduction by Harry Schwartz ix

PART I: THE IDEOLOGICAL UNDERPINNINGS

A. Economic Interpretation of History 3

B. The Class Struggle 12

PART II: MARXIAN ECONOMIC ANALYSIS

A. Labor Theory of Value 29

1. Value in Use and Value in Exchange 29

2. Socially Necessary Labor Time 33

3. Demand and Value 45

4. The Value of Labor Power 48

Appendixes to the Labor Theory of Value 56

a. Commodity Fetishism 56

b. The Doctrine of Increasing Misery 68

B. Theory of Exploitation 72

1. Constant and Variable Capital 72

2. Surplus Value 79

3. The Rate of Surplus Value 87

C. Accumulation and the Falling Rate of Profit 106

1. Organic Composition of Capital 106

2. The Falling Rate of Profit 110

3. Equalization of the Rate of Profit 147

4. Market Prices and Market Values 158

D. The Breakdown of Capitalism 166

1. The Capitalist and Accumulation 166

2. The Reserve Army of Unemployed, Crises, and Wages 168

3. Monopoly, Capitalism, and Crises 185
4. Deficiency in Demand and Crises 194
5. Crises Due to Internal Contradictions 200
6. Crises—Say's Law, Monetary Crises, Disproportions in Production 212
  - a. Causes of Crises in General 212
  - b. Overproduction of Commodities and Overabundance of Capital 216
  - c. Unity of Purchase and Sale, of the Process of Production and the Process of Circulation 220
  - d. General and Partial Overproduction 233
  - e. Expansion of Production and Expansion of the Market 244

PART III: THE NATURE OF A COMMUNIST SOCIETY

- A. Value, Rent, and Money in a Communist Society 263
  - B. The Allocation of Output and Labor in a Socialist and Communist Society 267
  - C. The Relationship of Man to Work, Man to Man, and Man to the State 269
- Sources* 279
- Index* 285