

Contents

Preface	ix
1 The Way We Live Now	1
Twentieth-Century Paradox	1
The Economics of Insanity (and vice-versa)	4
The New World Order	12
Where are We Going?	15
2 How the 'Marxists' Buried Marx	17
Marx and 'Marxism'	17
The Philosophy of Thuggery	21
Philosophy and the Russian Revolution	26
'Marxism' in the Second International	34
Lenin versus 'Orthodoxy'	44
Engels and 'Marxism'	48
Karl Marx and the Origins of 'Marxism'	51
Conclusion	61
3 'The Standpoint of Socialised Humanity'	63
Karl Marx and Humanity	63
Humanity in Inhuman Shape	69
Transcending Estrangement	100
Conclusion	108
4 Science and Humanity	109
Science Looking at People	109
Marx and Method	124
Karl Marx and Some Theories	126
Conclusion	137
Appendix: Science and Humanity – Hegel, Marx and Dialectic	138

5	Some Questions for the Twenty-first Century	153
	Introduction	153
	Technology and the Market	154
	Technology and the Natural Environment	157
	Industry and the State	159
	Feminism	160
	Racism, Nationalism and Other Horrors	161
	Socialism and the Labour Movement	164
	Notes and References	166
	Index	179