

CONTENTS

Introduction	7
I. The sources of A Man from the North
I. Autobiographical elements	13
II. The influence of Bel-Ami	20
II. Literary influences and personal memories in Anna of the Five Towns	25
III. The sources of Sacred and Profane Love	32
IV. The growth of The Old Wives' Tale
I. The original idea and its transformation	39
II. The Old Wives' Tale and previous works by Arnold Bennett	42
III. French literary influences	44
IV. Local history	48
V. Rivain's execution	52
VI. The Siege of Paris	57
VII. The federation of the Five Towns	66
VIII. Prototypes of characters	70
V. The Card in life and fiction	74
VI. The theosophical and other sources of The Glimpse	84
VII. The sources of Clayhanger
I. Sociological research	109
II. Personal impressions and memories	124
VIII. From Coquette to Lilian	138
IX. The genesis of Riceyman Steps
I. From environment through character to action	143
II. Pinks and Wood's History of Clerkenwell	147
X. Is Lord Raingo a roman-à-clef?
I. The Bennett-Birkenhead controversy	155
II. Lord Raingo and Lord Rhondda	158
III. The War Cabinet	164
XI. Imperial Palace and French naturalism	168
XII. From An Experiment with Time to Dream of Destiny	176
Conclusions	183
Bibliography	189
Index	193