

CONTENTS

	PAGE
INTRODUCTION . . . . .	xiii
Richard Lovelace . . . . .	xiii
Text of the Poems . . . . .	lxxii
 LUCASTA, 1649 . . . . .	 1-118
The Dedication to Anne Lovelace . . . . .	1
Commendatory Verses . . . . .	2-15
To Lucasta, Going beyond the Seas . . . . .	17
To Lucasta, Going to the Warres . . . . .	18
A Paradox . . . . .	19
To Amarantha, That she would dishevell her haire . . . . .	20
To Chloe, Courting her for his Friend . . . . .	22
Sonnet. 'Depose your finger' . . . . .	23
Ode. The Rose . . . . .	23
Gratiana' dauncing and singing . . . . .	25
The Scrutinie . . . . .	26
Princesse Löysa drawing . . . . .	27
An Elegie. Princesse Katherine . . . . .	29
Love Conquer'd . . . . .	31
A loose Saraband . . . . .	32
A forsaken Lady to her false Servant . . . . .	35
Orpheus to Beasts . . . . .	37
Orpheus to Woods . . . . .	38
The Grasse-hopper . . . . .	38
Dialogue. Lucasta, Alexis . . . . .	41
To Ellinda, that lately I have not written . . . . .	43
Sonnet. 'When I by thy faire shape' . . . . .	44

	PAGE
Lucasta weeping . . . . .	45
The Vintage to the Dungeon . . . . .	46
On the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Filmer . . . . .	47
To Lucasta. From Prison . . . . .	48
Lucasta's Fanne, With a Looking glasse in it . . . . .	51
Lucasta, taking the waters at Tunbridge . . . . .	53
To Lucasta. Ode Lyrick . . . . .	55
To my Worthy Friend Mr. Peter Lilly . . . . .	57
Elinda's Glove . . . . .	58
To Fletcher reviv'd . . . . .	59
The Lady A. L. My Asylum . . . . .	62
A Prologue to the Scholars . . . . .	65
The Epilogue . . . . .	66
Clitophon and Lucippe translated . . . . .	68
To my truly valiant, learned Friend, who in his booke resolv'd the Art Gladiatory into the Mathematick's . . . . .	70
Amyntor's Grove . . . . .	71
Against the Love of Great Ones . . . . .	74
Lucasta paying her Obsequies . . . . .	77
To Althea, From Prison . . . . .	78
Being treated To Ellinda . . . . .	79
Sonnet. To Generall Goring . . . . .	81
Sir Thomas Wortley's Sonnet . . . . .	82
The Answer . . . . .	83
A Guiltlesse Lady imprisoned; after penanced . . . . .	84
Upon the Curtaine of Lucasta's Picture . . . . .	85
To his Deare Brother Colonel F. L. . . . .	86
An Elegie. On the Death of Mrs. Cassandra Cotton . . . . .	87
Lucasta's World . . . . .	89

	PAGE
To a Lady that desired me I would beare my part with her in a Song . . . . .	90
Valiant Love . . . . .	93
The Apostacy of one, and but one Lady . . . . .	94
To my Lady H. . . . .	95
La Bella Bona Roba . . . . .	96
A La Bourbon . . . . .	97
The faire Begger . . . . .	98
To Ellinda. Upon his late recovery . . . . .	99
Amyntor from beyond the Sea to Alexis . . . . .	101
A Lady with a Falcon on her fist . . . . .	103
Calling Lucasta from her Retirement . . . . .	105
Aramantha. A Pastorall . . . . .	107
 LUCASTA. Posthume Poems, 1659-1660 . . . . .	 119-233
Dedication to the Right Hon. John Lovelace . . . . .	121
Her Reserved looks . . . . .	122
Lucasta laughing . . . . .	122
Song. 'Strive not, vain Lover' . . . . .	123
In allusion to the French-Song . . . . .	124
Night . . . . .	126
Love Inthron'd . . . . .	127
Her Muffe . . . . .	128
A Black patch on Lucasta's Face . . . . .	129
Another . . . . .	130
To Lucasta. 'I laugh and sing' . . . . .	131
To Lucasta. 'Like to the Sent'nel Stars . . . . .	132
Lucasta at the Bath . . . . .	132
The Ant . . . . .	134
The Snayl . . . . .	136
Another . . . . .	138

	PAGE
Courante Monsieur . . . . .	139
A loose Saraband . . . . .	139
The Falcon . . . . .	141
Love made in the first Age . . . . .	146
To a Lady with child that ask'd an Old Shirt . . . . .	148
Song. 'In mine one Monument' . . . . .	149
Another. 'I did believe I was in Heav'n'	150
Ode. 'You are deceiv'd' . . . . .	150
The Duell . . . . .	152
Cupid far gone . . . . .	153
A Mock-Song . . . . .	154
A Fly caught in a Cobweb . . . . .	155
A Fly about a Glasse of Burnt Claret . . . . .	157
Female Glory . . . . .	159
A Dialogue. Lute and Voice . . . . .	160
A Mock Charon. Dialogue . . . . .	161
The Toad and Spyder . . . . .	162
The Triumphs of Philamore and Amoret . . . . .	169
Advice to my best Brother . . . . .	174
An Anniversary . . . . .	177
Paris's second Judgement . . . . .	179
Peinture . . . . .	180
To my dear friend Mr. E. R. . . . .	184
To my noble kinsman T. S. Esq. . . . .	186
On the Best, last, and only remaining Comedy of Mr. Fletcher . . . . .	188
To Dr. F. B. On his Book of Chesse . . . . .	190
To the Genius of Mr. John Hall . . . . .	190
On Sanazar's being honoured . . . . .	192
Translations . . . . .	202-219

	PAGE
ELEGIES, 1660 . . . . .	221-235
Lines prefixed to John Davies' translation of Voiture's Letters , 1657 . . . . .	236
NOTES
To 1649 . . . . .	239
To 1659-1660 . . . . .	297
ADDITIONAL NOTES . . . . .	344
TEXTUAL NOTES . . . . .	354

ILLUSTRATIONS

Colonel Richard Lovelace . . . . .	Frontispiece
From the portrait in the Dulwich Gallery
The Pensive Prisoner's Apology . . . . .	Between pp. 344-5
Reduced by approximately one-seventh of the original	