

CONTENTS

Preface	ix
List of Tables	xi
Abbreviations	xiii
Transliteration System	xviii
Maps	xix
 Introduction: Two Mysteries	 1
(1) A Mystery in History: The Norman Kingdom of Sicily (1130-98)	 1
(2) A Mystery in Historiography: Norman Administration in Sicily	 11
1. Foundation of the Norman Administrative System (ca. 1058-1112)	25
(1) Inheritance from the Great Count Roger I (1058-1101)	25
(2) Minority of Simon and Roger II under the Regency of Adelasia (1101-12)	 40
2. Creation of a New Kingdom by Roger II (1112-40)	47
(1) Roger II's Reign as Count of Calabria and Sicily (1112-27)	47
(2) Creation of a New Kingdom and Pacification of the Peninsula (1127-40)	 56
(3) Administration during the War Period (1127-40)	64
3. Establishment of a New Administrative System (1140-54)	73
(1) Introduction of Royal Chamberlains and Royal Justiciars into the New Territory	 73
(2) Creation of the Dīwān at-tahqīq al-ma'mūr for Sicily	81
(3) Transformation of the Central Government	84
4. Administration under William I (1154-66)	95
(1) Maio of Bari and Familiaries regis	95
(2) Chamberlains and Justiciars at the Central Government	101
(3) Administration of the Peninsula	104
5. Central Government and the Administration of Sicily under William II (1166-89)	 115
(1) William II and Familiaries regis	115

(2) Justiciars of the Great Royal Court, Chamberlains of the Royal Palace, and the Admirals	125
(3) Duana de secretis and the Administration of Sicily	133
6. Administration of the Peninsula under William II (1166-89)	143
(1) Master Justiciars and Master Chamberlains in the Peninsula	143
(2) Duana baronum	145
(3) Changes in the Administrative Structure of the Peninsula	155
Conclusion	163
Appendix I Dating System	173
Appendix II Norman Diplomas	183
Appendix III Dukes, Princes and Counts (1130-89)	199
Appendix IV Officials	211
Appendix V Genealogies	221
Bibliography	229
Index	263